

40 Persons Die in South, Property Loss a Million As Result of Rain, Winds

33 Killed at Cordele, Ga., as Tornado Devastates Area of About Eight City Blocks; Wind at 95 Miles.

RELIEF RUSHED

Several are Sought Under Debris; Relief Calls are Sent Out, Aid is Rushed.

Cordele, Ga., April 2 (P)—Spring wind and rain storms killed an estimated 40 persons in the southeast today, City Manager John Brown reported, and did more than $1,000,000 property damage, with the major loss centered at this south Georgia city.

"At least 33 were killed in Cordele," Brown said, "eight white persons and 25 negroes."

Rescue agencies swung into action immediately, proceeding to the scene by train and over rain-drenched highways.

Seven storm deaths were reported elsewhere in Georgia, Alabama and South Carolina.

A new baseball stadium, dedicated only yesterday amid cheers, was converted into a hospital to take care of those unable to find room at other Cordele hospitals.

R. L. Dekle, an undertaker, said seven bodies had been taken from splintered homes.

"Ambulances, trucks and other motor vehicles are being pressed in to service to bring in the dead, injured and dying."

"From the appearance of the mangled victims, it is amazing that the death toll is as low as it has been."

Two infantry companies and five doctors of the Georgia National Guard were dispatched to Cordele by orders of Governor Eugene Talmadge to provide for the refugees and aid the injured.

The dispatch estimated the wind at times reached a velocity of 90 to 95 miles an hour. The worst of the blow lasted about 10 minutes. It struck about 7:30 a. m., eastern standard time. At least 50 persons were reported injured.

Four or five persons were believed buried under debris of Mrs. W. I. Harris's grocery store, which was demolished. Workers were digging in the ruins of the store in an effort to find the bodies.

Dr. C. E. McArthur of the Cordele Hospital staff, said at least 23 or 30 injured persons had been brought there at 10:15 a. m., eastern time, and that a negro hospital had at least ten more storm victims. He said ambulances were bringing in additional patients constantly, as rapidly as they could get through storm littered streets.

Relief calls were sent to nearby cities—Albany, Vienna, Macon, and Americus.

Mayor J. W. Collins of Albany said he was asked to send doctors to help treat 300 reported injured.

The storm wrecked two large school buildings, but they were struck before the students had arrived for the day.

Some of the finest homes in Cordele, a city of 6,880 by the 1930 census, were damaged.

A definite count on the number of dead appeared unlikely until all the injured had been cared for.

In addition to Cordele, other sections of Crisp county reported homes wrecked.

At Sasser, Ga., a negro was killed and a number of homes were destroyed.

A tornado struck near Gordo, Ala., late last night, killed one person, injured several others and wrecked buildings.

The twister cut a path about 300 yards wide and nearly a mile long in Pickett county, West Alabama.

Mrs. Willie McColl, 25, was killed as the McColl home and barn were leveled.

Relief Inquiry Held Up.

Washington, April 2 (P)—With two investigations into the handling of the $600,000,000 work relief fund already scheduled, administration leaders turned thumbs down today on a third move for a broad inquiry into all relief expenditures.

The Senate appropriations committee had approved a resolution introduced by Senator Davis (R-Pa.) for an investigation of WPA and FERA, but Democratic chieftains decided to hold it up.

Penny Pay Day.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 2 (P)—One hundred city employees received a total payroll of $10.28—all in pennies. In no instance did the amount in any envelope exceed eight cents. Nor was there less than two cents.

The payments made yesterday represented fractional sums left over from each pay day which had accumulated during the fiscal year ended Tuesday.

Bad Check Charge.

Washington, April 2 (P)—John M. Holmworth, said once to have been a candidate for congress from the Westchester County (N. Y.) District, was free on bond today pending trial on a bad check charge. Police officials said he was released March 26 after having been held six days for non-payment.

Democratic Contest in Primary Here Today

Enrolled voters may cast their ballots today in the Spring Primary when delegates and alternate delegates to the national convention will be elected and also members of the state committee from the county. Only enrolled voters may vote and the polls will be open from noon until 9 o'clock this evening.

There are no contests on the Republican slate with Philip Elting and Lewis K. Rockefeller candidates for delegates to the national convention and George E. Tupper and Elliot Springstead as alternates. For members of the state committee from Ulster county are Philip Elting and Mrs. Laura C. Rose.

The Democrats have a contest with Manuel Dittenheimer of Ellenville opposing County Chairman Bernard A. Culliton the regularly named candidate for state committee. Dittenheimer has conducted an active campaign and has circulated enrolled Democrats of the county. Mrs. Joan Dwyer Goldrick of Kingston, who was named with Judge Culliton, is unopposed.

Socialists will select committee-men in a number of districts.

Borah's Strength to Be Tested in New York Primary Voting Today

Albany, April 2 (P)—The test of strength for Senator William E. Borah's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, appeared to be the principal point of general interest today in New York state's primary election.

Second was the state-wide contest between the "Old Guard" and Norman Thomas wings for control of the Socialist party.

President Roosevelt's renomination was not an issue in the Democratic primary, although there were a few local factional contests over candidates for delegates to the National Convention.

Borah Forces, led by W. Kingsland Macy, Representative Hamilton Fish and William Ziegler, Jr., had entered pledged candidates for delegates to the National Republican Convention in nine of the 43 congressional districts.

They will oppose candidates of the Republican "Old Guard," dominated by National Committeeman Charles D. Hillis, which wants to send an unopposed delegation to the Convention in Cleveland.

Borah forces consider their best chances of winning some of the state's 90 delegates lie in the first, eighth and 15th districts. Macy, former state G. O. P. chairman, is a candidate for alternate in the first, a Long Island district.

Ziegler, former state treasurer, and Fish are candidates for delegate in the 15th Manhattan district. Other districts where Borah-pledged delegates seek seats are the fourth, 23rd, 33rd, 36th, 37th and 43rd.

Opposition Republican candidates for delegates also have entered the race in the second, third, 11th and 16th districts. These contests involve revolts against old-line leadership rather than regard for any particular candidate, however.

For the first time since 1919, the Socialists have a red hot primary fight, extending into every Assembly district in New York city and many upstate.

From it will emerge a state committee and delegates to the National Party Convention, determining whether the Old Guard, headed by Louis Waldman, or the Left Wing, headed by Thomas, perennial presidential candidate, shall prevail.

Local leadership is the issue in Democratic contests for delegates. These are in the third congressional district in Brooklyn and three districts of Erie and Niagara counties.

Firebug is Sought.

Haverstraw, N. Y., April 2 (P)—A "moon-truck firebug" was sought in Haverstraw today as officials declared that the fire which razed the unoccupied $100,000 Capitol Theatre last night was of apparently incendiary origin. Police Chief John Salsinger said today that he had been checking up on 11 other fires of an apparent incendiary origin in Haverstraw within the past year, and had found that each blaze occurred just at the turn of the moon. A spokesman for the insurance underwriters investigating the blaze said today that probably no new fire insurance would be written for Haverstraw buildings until the circumstances had been ascertained.

Rabbi Noah Rosenthal, 53, of 101 Hone street, who was in charge of the Hebrew School on Post street, was found drowned in the Rondout Creek in the rear of the Forst Packing Co. plant by Officer Lenville Relyea of the Kingston police department who had been assigned to search for the missing rabbi by Sergeant James V. Simpson at police headquarters. Efforts to restore life proved futile although members of the fire department with the inhalator worked for some time in attempting to resuscitate him. Dr. Jack Lehner, who had been called, ordered the rabbi removed to the Kingston Hospital in the ambulance where the work of administering first aid was continued until it was seen that it was hopeless and Dr. Lehner pronounced him dead. Coroner Norwin R. Lasher gave his verdict as "suicide by drowning."

It was shortly after 9 o'clock this morning when the dead man's son walked into police headquarters reporting his father missing and asking that the police aid in finding him. Officer Relyea was assigned to the case. It was thought that Rabbi Rosenthal, who had been in a highly nervous state for several days, might have jumped or fallen into the waters of the Rondout creek.

Relyea Finds Body

With that idea in mind Officer Relyea started the search at the Rhinecliff ferry slip and walked up the dock keeping a sharp eye on the creek waters. His efforts, however, were not rewarded until he had reached the slip in the rear of the packing plant. Several barges are berthed in the slip and near one of the barges Officer Relyea saw the head of a man bobbing up and down in the water. Only the top of the head was visible as the rest of the head from the forehead down was submerged.

Officer Relyea called to Hubert Gray of 11 Mill street and Arthur Peck of 235 Hasbrouck avenue, who were nearby, to come to his assistance and the three men got hold of the body and pulled it up on the dock. Officer Relyea, after calling the police department and telling of finding the body, began the work of administering artificial respiration until the fire department crew arrived with the inhalator.

Chief Joseph L. Murphy and Firemen Hutton, LaTour and Geary rushed to the dock in the chief's car with the inhalator, and after spreading the body out on blankets stretched on the wet ground worked desperately in an effort to revive the dead man. Dr. Lehner decided that the body was in a warm room that the efforts to revive Rabbi Rosenthal might prove successful.

Rushed to Hospital

At his order the W. N. Conner ambulance was called and the body placed in the ambulance and rushed to the hospital. On the way to the hospital the firemen continued to use the inhalator, and when the hospital was reached the body was rushed to the emergency room where further attempts were made to revive the man, but he was beyond medical aid. From the story as learned by Officer Relyea, the last seen of the dead man was at the Congregation Agudas Achim, where he had been taken shortly after 6 o'clock this morning by Ben Suskind, a neighbor on Hone street. Rabbi Rosenthal was last seen in the lower hall of the church on West Union street, but did not enter the church auditorium. He left his umbrella standing in the lower hall, and evidently after being at the church for a few minutes left the building.

Rabbi Rosenthal had recently had his teeth extracted and since then had been highly nervous, and when the family learned that he had not attended the services in the Congregation Agudas Achim they became alarmed and called in the police to aid in a search for the missing man.

Coroner's Verdict

Coroner Lasher, who had been called in the case, was seen at the hospital later in the morning and stated that under the circumstances he did not believe it necessary to order an autopsy. He gave as his verdict "suicide by drowning" and ordered the body turned over to Undertaker James V. Halloran.

French Prepares Attack By Diplomacy Against German Locarno Plan

Flandin Summons Ambassadors in Chief Capitals to Return to Paris for Instructions on Two-Fold Campaign.

TACTICS OF DELAY

France Would Seek Specific Method of Limiting German Forts in the Rhineland.

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press) Paris, April 2.—France massed her diplomatic resources today for a counter-attack against Germany's Locarno plan.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin summoned the French ambassadors in London, Berlin, Brussels and Rome to come to Paris for a two-fold campaign.

First, informed sources said, the government resolved to present a strong attitude against Germany's violation of the Locarno pact by remilitarization of the Rhineland until after France's parliamentary elections April 26 and May 3.

Second, these sources said, the government would employ tactics of delay while searching for a peace plan more favorable to France.

While waiting the ambassadors, Flandin and Premier Albert Sarraut analyzed the German proposals in preparation for a cabinet meeting tomorrow.

The stern opposition to Germany's treaty breach came, informed sources said, while rightist leaders were utilizing the government's failure to punish Germany as evidence that Hitler had outmaneuvered France.

Under a new peace plan, these sources said, France would seek specifically a method for limiting Germany's fortifications in the Rhineland.

Such fortifications, if constructed, would make it difficult for France to aid her allies comprising the "ring of steel" around Germany.

French sources saw Hitler's proposals for a new peace system as a "cunning plan" to split the Locarno powers and to make Der Fuehrer dictator of Europe.

Official sources, declaring Hitler's proposals "unacceptable" looked for the government to insist upon an immediate reunion of Britain, France, Belgium and Italy, signatories to the Locarno pact violated by Germany's remilitarization of the Rhineland.

Officials said Foreign Minister Flandin asked the British to arrange for such a meeting Saturday or Monday at Brussels.

French officials and press alike agreed that acceptance of Hitler's proposals would mean an end to France's present role in Europe and doom her to rapid isolation.

Hitler's program, if carried out, undoubtedly would "plunge Europe into blood and fire," Pertinax, noted foreign affairs expert, wrote in an interpretation representative of the bulk of informed French comment.

PELHAM BANK OFFICIALS TO BE SENTENCED FRIDAY

New York, April 2 (P)—John T. Brook, former president, and Carroll E. Latimer, former cashier and conservator of the Pelham National Bank, were convicted on five counts of an eleven-count indictment charging the making of false entries in reports submitted to the comptroller of the currency and conspiracy, by a federal court jury last night.

The jury recommended mercy. The defendants will be sentenced Friday.

Six other directors of the bank which closed in March, 1933, paying depositors eleven cents on the dollar, were acquitted.

The jury's verdict was reached after more than eight hours deliberation following a trial which began February 20. The final verdict was reached an hour after the jury reported that it found for Brook's and Latimer's guilt in the making of false reports and conspiracy.

Thomas J. Todarelli, counsel for the two convicted men, contended the jury's verdict was not consistent with the charges in the indictment, which alleged the making of false entries in reports, and Judge William J. Bondy sent the jury back for a more specific determination.

Little Suprise Now Over Sudden Events In Hauptmann Case

By J. M. KENDRICK

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Trenton, N. J., April 2 (P)—There is a decided uncertainty in informed circles here that Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted kidnaper slayer of the Lindbergh baby, will die in the electric chair tomorrow night, or within the next several weeks.

Hauptmann's electrocution has been held, somewhat tentatively, for tomorrow night. Under the law, as now understood, the prison warden must carry out the sentence within this week unless some legal action intervenes.

But there is every indication that the final determination, or "show-down," as to what will be done will not be reached until Friday or Saturday.

By then, the current developments are expected to reach a status by which Governor Harold G. Hoffman, who has led the fight to prolong Hauptmann's life until a further investigation of the Lindbergh crime can be completed, and similar advocates are able to decide on their course of action.

The opinion is general that if it is decided to grant another stay, a way will be found to accomplish this. And if it becomes necessary for Justice Thomas W. Trechard, before whom Hauptmann was tried, to issue a new order for the execution, a date must be fixed from four to eight weeks after the signing.

One does not have to be in Trenton to realize how strongly imbued in politics the case has become and the innumerable and unpredictable possibilities that may develop therefrom.

On the scene, as a sensational development break with apparent spontaneity, the constant undercurrent planning and activity by the principals on both sides is obvious.

The result is that the swiftly breaking events are viewed with little surprise and with a questioning attitude of "what will be next?"

BRUNO IS CALM

Hauptmann Sleeps Well and Reiterates Belief His Eventual Freedom Will be Obtained.

By DALE HARRISON

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

Trenton, N. J., April 2 (P)—The Mercer county grand jury, which saved Bruno Richard Hauptmann's life Tuesday night, called Gov. Harold G. Hoffman to testify today, and the belief grew swiftly that Hauptmann again would escape the electric chair tomorrow night.

The jury investigating charges that Paul H. Wendel, rather than Hauptmann, committed the crime for which Hauptmann has been sentenced to die, also arranged to hear Attorney-General David T. Wilentz, the Hauptmann prosecutor.

Unconfirmed reports were that John F. Condon, the Lindbergh ransom intermediary, also would be called.

The jury plunged into its renewed consideration of the Wendel case while charges were popping that Gov. Hoffman was blocking efforts to probe an alleged assault on the caretaker at the Lindbergh's abandoned Hopewell estate—the place of the Lindbergh baby kidnapping—yesterday.

Parker Awaits Call

Awaiting call before the jury was Ellis Parker, the Burlington county detective chief whose private investigation of the Lindbergh baby murder led to the Wendel arrest. A guard stood beside Parker to prevent his talking with other witnesses.

Dr. Carroll T. Jones, superintendent of the state colony for the feeble minded at New Lisbon, where Wendel spent four weeks prior to being turned over to Mercer county authorities late Saturday night, testified briefly. He produced a statement signed by Wendel in which Wendel said he was entering the hospital voluntarily.

While these developments were breaking, Hauptmann himself was just awakening from an 11-hour sleep.

Guards said he retired at 10:30 o'clock last night, falling asleep immediately and hardly stirring during the night. He appeared greatly refreshed, the guards said, and confident that he would not die at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

"Something" Would Happen.

The increasing belief that "something" would happen to prevent the execution, already thrice delayed, was based on these developments:

The possibility that the grand jury would indict Wendel for the murder, thus casting doubt on Hauptmann's conviction for the crime as to bring about a delay in his execution.

The fact that Governor Hoffman, who already has once received Hauptmann, is showing increasing activity in the case which he has said will not be solved by the putting to death of the Bronx carpenter.

The statement of Col. Mark O. Kimberling, prison warden, that he will delay the execution to the limit of his authority as long as any legal action affecting the Lindbergh case is pending.

Under a death warrant he may execute Hauptmann any time during "the week of March 30," which may possibly mean as late as Sunday night.

The warden, if necessary, will ask the sentencing justice, Thomas W. Trechard, to define the exact limits of "the week of March 30."

The fact that other so-called "new evidence," such as the story of Stephen Spitz that he possesses Lindbergh ransom notes which he bought from persons other than Hauptmann, remains to be inquired into.

The further fact that Governor Hoffman is so definitely committed to obtaining a "complete solution" of the entire case, that many believe he will find some way to delay the execution, even though Attorney-General Wilentz, his official legal adviser, has held that his reprieve powers are now exhausted.

Other authorities, however, are reported to have offered a contrary opinion which the governor, in the case of extreme necessity, might elect to follow.

Grand Jury Session

The man who got a murder conviction against Bruno Richard Hauptmann and the man who has been trying to save him from the electric chair, were summoned today before the Mercer county grand jury investigating the "confession" of Paul H. Wendel to the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Governor Harold G. Hoffman, who injected himself into Hauptmann's case last October with a nocturnal visit to the deathhouse, appeared at the courtroom shortly after the grand jury convened and sent before the body.

Farming in Canada is big business, and the important role played by co-operative associations in the agricultural life of the Dominion indicates that the Canadian farmer is not content merely to limit his efforts to the fields, but extends his activities into the realm of commerce to such an extent that farmers' organizations are a determining factor both in the marketing of farm products and purchasing of farm requisites. Cooperation has provided the farmer with increased bargaining power and an influence in the sale of his products on more favorable terms.

Two Men Perish As Tri-Motored Plane Crashes at Pavilion

Pavilion, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Air-line officials and government inspectors sought in a mass of charred wreckage on a farm near here today an explanation for the crash of a tri-motored airplane which cost the lives of two men last night.

The ship, an eight-seater (Stinson) of the American Airlines flying from Newark, N. J., to Buffalo, plunged to earth in flames with Pilot Sanford L. Underwood of Buffalo and Assistant Flight Superintendent William L. Garrett of Newark aboard.

Underwood was decapitated and thrown 25 feet from the wreckage. Garrett was found 100 feet away, unconscious but alive.

John Chesterfield, a farm hand who was first on the scene, said he died within a few minutes.

Residents reported the plane was ablaze as it passed over here shortly after 7 o'clock last night on the way to Buffalo, about 60 miles to the west.

It fell in the field of Ralph Shepard, a farmer, two miles east of the village, plowing through telephone lines and cutting communication to nearby farm homes.

The main portion of the wreckage burned quickly. Two bags of mail, however, escaped the flames. State police picked them up. Parts of the plane were scattered about the field for 150 yards.

The plane last reported by radio to Buffalo airport about 7 p. m. At that time Underwood messaged "2,500 foot ceiling, visibility one mile, light snow."

Department of commerce license numbers showed it was the same plane which set down in a muddy field two minutes after taking off from Rochester Municipal Airport March 20. The lone passenger on that trip was not injured and the plane only slightly damaged.

Underwood had been flying air routes nearly 10 years and previously was a barnstormer and stunt pilot. Garrett was promoted from Albany to his new position in Newark last week.

THOUSANDS SEE THRILLING BROADWAY RESCUE

As thousands of spectators gaped from streets and windows, a pretty 24-year-old commercial dancer was brought four floors down a ladder to safety when a fire swept a building in the middle of the Broadway theater district. The actual rescue, the nervous Arlene Shugert, and her savior Fireman Edward Holmes, are shown above. "It was simply thrilling," Miss Shugert said. (Associated Press Photos)

COL. LUKE LEA FREED FROM NORTH CAROLINA PRISON

Raleigh, N. C., April 2 (AP).—His prison sentence cut short by a parole for exemplary conduct, the open spaces beckoned again today to Col. Luke Lea, picturesque World War hero and one-time political and financial power in Tennessee. After a three-year fight in the courts to avoid serving a six-to-ten-year sentence for conspiracy to violate the banking laws, the one-time U. S. senator entered the state penitentiary May 19, 1934.

The man who climaxed his military career with an unsuccessful attempt to kidnap the German Kaiser after the armistice became a model prisoner here and Governor Ewing has made his parole effective today.

Lea said he had no plans for the future. He will leave Raleigh this afternoon.

Lea was released in connection with the collapse in 1939 of the $17,000,000 Central Banking and Trust Company of Asheville, N. C. His son, Luke Lea, Jr., entered prison with him. Due to ill health, the younger man was paroled after serving 79 days.

Although Canada is perhaps best known throughout the world for its products of the field, forest, and mine, manufacturing is a most important industry.

Events Around The Empire State

Syracuse, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—C. C. Carpenter, professor of Botany at Syracuse University, recommended subsistence farming last night to absorb the 1,000,000 persons he estimated will be permanently unemployed in New York state. Prof. Carpenter, former TERA official, said the plan would "cut welfare costs." He addressed the Syracuse Industrial Executives Association.

Towanda, Pa., April 2 (AP)—Of- Melals here last night identified the body found in the Susquehanna river Monday as that of Howard Devereaux, 43, of Tully, N. Y., who fled from the Binghamton, N. Y., state hospital in January.

Troy, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Adelaide Moffett, brunette Standard Oil heiress who once aspired to be a night club singer, has abandoned her nursing studies at Russell Sage College, President James Laurence Meador said last night. Dr. Meador said Miss Moffett, who left school two weeks ago after an attack of measles, notified him she would not return. She is the daughter of James Moffett, Standard Oil executive.

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Motor Vehicle Commissioner Charles A. Harnett reported last night that motor vehicle fatalities in the state in the first two months of 1936 were 10 per cent fewer than a year ago. "With more care in driving and walking, the downward trend in accidents indicated in the first two months will continue throughout the year," he said. Harnett said 248 persons were killed and 11,144 injured during January and February.

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Approximately 2,500 unemployed teachers will get jobs as adult education instructors under a special $2,500,000 WPA allocation, upstate Administrator Lester W. Herzog said last night. Institutes to train them will be held at Buffalo, Rochester, Utica, New Hyde Park, White Plains and Albany, Herzog added. The state education department sponsors the adult education program.

CAPITAL'S CHERRY TREES BLOOM TOO SOON

Washington's cherry trees sprang a surprise on the city fathers by blooming unexpectedly, and forcing cancellation of the annual cherry blossom festival, but they are as beautiful as ever. Here is a group of congressional secretaries admiring them. Left to right: Etta Dunn, Scotland Neck, N. C.; Johnnie Mabry, Albermarle, N. ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

CHARLES MICHELSON

(By The Associated Press)

Charles Michelson, a slightly stooped man whose typewriter all but smokes when he writes of Republicans, has a bigger part in the political show than his title might indicate.

Many a campaign speech rolled off sonorously by a high ranking party leader may be written by Michelson, the Democratic press agent. In addition, it will be up to him to keep the "handouts"—articles that in effect will "point with pride" to the administration's record and "view with dismay" the opposition's ideas—pouring out in an ever-widening stream.

For to this veteran writer, credited with playing an important part in Herbert Hoover's defeat, is entrusted a heavy share of the efforts to get the Democrats the "best press" possible.

Tomorrow—Theodore A. Huntley.

Dundee, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Contact with a power line electrocuted Kenneth Fry, 25, lineman of Wayne, while he was repairing sleet-damaged telephone wires yesterday. Coroner James P. MacDowell issued a certificate of accidental death.

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Steamboat passenger service returned to the Hudson river today, reassuring token that spring is well established. The Poughkeepsie of the Hudson River Steamboat Company headed for New York after proceeding here from her winter mooring at Newburgh yesterday.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—John J. Mylod, former president of the Dutchess County Bar Association, died last night after three months' illness. He was 75. Mylod was city historian and active in Democratic politics.

The Edison Electric Institute reports that 44,480 new farm electric customers were gained by the power industry during 1935. This compares with a gain of 30,400 for 1934, and brings the total number of electrified farms to 785,795—12 1/2 per cent of all farms in the country. New Hampshire has the highest percentage of electrified farms, with 68 per cent. Connecticut, New Jersey, Utah and California each have 60 per cent.

SHOKAN

Shokan, April 2.—Louis Shaw, a former Shokan man who for many years has resided at Lake Katrine, called on some of his old friends in the village Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Myers returned to their place on the state road Sunday after having spent the winter in Kingston. Mrs. Myers has recovered from her serious illness earlier in the year.

Reservoir employees are busy getting out stone at the Tongore quarry for use in repairing the boulevards.

Richard E. Craft of Phoenixia was numbered among the Shandaken business men in town Monday.

Mrs. Alex. Hamilton of the Tonche neighborhood remains seriously ill, having been confined to her bed much of the time since last fall. Mr. Hamilton also is in poor health this spring, but is able to walk down to the village.

William Lasher, Jr., of Yonkers, called in the village center Sunday.

The spillway at last accounts was still running over. The streams have subsided rapidly since the heavy rain of the latter part of the week.

Mrs. Hans J. Cohn was hostess to several of her friends at a bridge party at the Dr. Cohn residence Monday afternoon.

Arthur Myers left Monday to take up his new duties as driver of one of the express busses on the Greyhound line between Cleveland and New York.

Mrs. Mary Coons is again at her home in the house of her sister, Mrs. Lincoln Smith.

The True Blue Club met at the close of the Shokan school session Thursday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by President Charles Peroneus.

The regular routine work of the club followed, after which the election of officers for the remainder of the school term was held. Elections were: President, Otto Grossman; vice-president, Lois Robeson; secretary, Alva K. Winchell; treasurer, Carmen Lopez; color bearer, Merrill Wheat. A rising vote of thanks was given to the retiring officers and also the refreshment committee, all of whom have served efficiently.

Raymond Cruthers and family of Ridgefield Park, N. J., were weekend visitors to their country home opposite the schoolhouse.

April 2, 1887, Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Winne, died. Funeral services were held on the 5th, at the Reformed Church, of which the Rev. J. Talmadge Bergen was pastor. Mrs. Winne was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David F. Davis who owned a large farm on the west side of the Esopus creek near Shokan. She was a sister of the late Mrs. Dewitt C. Davis of the old village of Shokan.

J. Angel and family are at their summer home in the Chase bungalow colony on Winchell Mountain. The Angel boys have been in Arizona the past winter.

James Burke and family, who came here last fall from Glenford, have removed from Mrs. May Gilie's house to Montgomery.

Mrs. Arthur Carter, who has been in poor health for several weeks is somewhat improved.

Franchising services in the Olive and Hurley Baptist Church Sunday, as conducted by Elder Arnold Bellows of West Hurley, were well attended. Elder Bellows, now in his seventh year as pastor of the local church, is well liked in this and his other charges.

Out-of-town callers in the village center Sunday included Mrs. Alice Beesmer of Saugerties, who, previous to the coming of the water works, operated a large boarding house at Olive City. She is the daughter of Walter Emory, one time attorney-at-law in Olive. Mrs. Beesmer is homesick for this section and would like to again make her home here.

The Shokan Social Eight held their final pinocle party of the season last Thursday evening at the home on the north boulevard of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giaccone. The members of the club have met one evening a week during the past winter for a social evening at cards.

Nazis Put Publicity Ban on Eckener

Berlin, April 2 (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, has become "taboo" to the Nazis because of his conduct during the Reichstag election campaign.

His refusal to come out with a special election appeal caused the propaganda ministry to issue secret orders to the press to drop Eckener's name hereafter out of any publicity concerning the Graf or the giant new Zeppelin Hindenburg.

Eckener, always a man of rugged independence, declined an endorsement on the ground that he was a technician, not a politician.

OIL DRILLING BRINGS OUT NATIONAL GUARD

With the extension of the oil drilling zone in Oklahoma City, the hunt for oil has gone almost into the front yard of the statehouse. This derrick is only two blocks away and others were planned even nearer. Grounds of the capitol, shown in the background, were to be patrolled by national guardmen as a court controversy raged over the situation. (Associated Press Photo)

51 Civil Actions on County Court Calendar

There are 51 civil actions on the county court calendar to be taken up next week Monday when Judge Frederick G. Traver will convene the April trial term at 2 o'clock. The first week of the term will be devoted to civil matters and criminal work will be taken up the second week.

There are several criminal matters pending and undoubtedly several of the indictments reported today in supreme court will be taken up during the April term for disposition. District Attorney C. B. Murray will send out his criminal calendar in time to bring criminal matters before the court during the second week of the term.

Hope springs eternal this time of year. Father gets out his old spade, forgetting all about the bugs.

Piles All Gone

Without Scares or Cutting

Itching, bleeding protruding piles go quickly if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby and lifeless. Sales and cutting often fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal pile medicine. After a fine record of success with it in his own practice he named it HEM-ROID.

Army Doubles Pre-World War Strength As U. S. Plans Biggest Peace Time Force

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington (AP)—Army day, marking the nineteenth anniversary of America's entry into the World War on April 6, 1917, finds the United States preparing to boost its military strength to a peace-time high.

Enrollment in the nation's various armed forces—regular army, national guard and reserve corps—today totals 440,958, and an appropriation is pending before Congress to add 1,300 officers and 15,000 men to the army.

In 1917, one year before war broke out in Europe, the United States had less than half as many men under arms as at present, and today's figure is three-fourths the total on the day America declared war on Germany.

In addition, a large group of civilians have had training in citizens' military training camps since 1921. An average of 20,000 youth yearly have received groundwork in military tactics at the camps.

Air Force Stronger
Probably the greatest change in any branch of the army since the World War has occurred in the air force. Only 740 American airplanes saw service in the World War, some abroad and some at training camps here.

American manufacture of combat planes never reached the stage where American planes could be used at the front. France had 3,321 planes in service over the battle fields.

At present the American army owns 1,050 planes, although military boards have reported the force should be brought up to 2,320. Appropriations now before Congress would permit the purchase of 565 more planes for the army.

Congress also is moving toward a marked increase of protection along the coast lines, particularly along the

Pacific, in Panama and at the Hawaiian Islands. Plans are being made for more long-range sea coast and anti-aircraft guns.

It has been the history of the national defense policy in this country, says the war department, to disband large armies after wars. When new emergencies arose both men and officers were trained in a hurry.

After the World War, and its concomitant rush of men through training camps, a national defense act was passed in 1920 which authorized a regular army of 18,000 officers and 280,000 enlisted men.

That strength never has been reached because appropriations were inadequate to support such an enrollment, although the trained officer personnel has been greatly increased to facilitate rapid mobilization should the need arise.

ZENA.

Zena, April 1.—Friday being the first Friday in April will be business meeting night at the Zena Country Club.

Miss Therese Eldenwell motored up from New York city with her aunt and uncle to spend the week-end with her parents here.

Miss Florence Hill, Miss Flora Lucas and Palmer Carnright went to Miss Hill's home in Gloversville for the week-end.

The Christian Endeavor met on Friday under the leadership of Miss Anna Klementis. Five visitors were present to enjoy Miss Klementis' short talk.

Miss Helen Long had as her week-end guest, Miss Helen Lamphere, a class mate at New Paltz Normal School.

The return of Mrs. Doris Calmar and Mrs. Clemence Randolph to their homes here, after spending the winter in the south, brought four new pupils to the Zena school on Monday.

The Misses Carrie and Nellie Carnright of Newburgh were week-end visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Carnright.

William Williams has returned to his home at Chestnut Hill after spending some time in Tennessee.

Mrs. Bonesteel of Kingston spent Sunday at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Carnright.

Frank Tichenor, Miss Anne Reinhold and Frank Richards spent last week-end at Mr. Tichenor's farm on Chestnut Hill.

"Learn all you can about remodeling the house before the work actually begins," suggests Professor Grace Morin of the New York state college of home economics, who adds, "but be sure that the sources of information are reliable."

New-Type Lie Detector

Reacts to Perspiration

Iowa City, Iowa.—Perspiration is the newest source of lie detection, according to Dr. D. Ulrich Greenwald, University of Iowa psychologist, who has perfected a lie detector in the university laboratory. Where most lie detectors are motivated by physical disturbances such as breathing, pulse rate and blood pressure, Greenwald's outfit records information from the action of the sweat glands. Several universities have requested duplicates of the machine.

With college students organizing as "Veterans of Future Wars" and James Branch Cabell writing a "Preface to the Past," don't blame us if we can't quite figure out where we're at.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, April 1.—Louise H. Zimm, president of the Woodstock Historical Society, has received assurance from D. V. Z. Bogart, state highway engineer for Ulster county, that he will have the historical markers for the town of Woodstock put in place just as soon as time can be spared from road work made necessary by the flood. As soon as the markers are up, plans will be made for a big motor parade and unveiling celebration in which all the town organizations will probably join. It is hoped that the date can be arranged for early in May.

Allen Dean Elwyn is having an addition built on the lunch wagon.

A brush fire on the Mount property on Theron Lasher's hill in Bearville called out the Woodstock Fire Co. on Monday about 3 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedburg are in Woodstock intending to remain for the summer.

Samuel Gregg has opened his wine and liquor store in the former Community Building.

Winifred Huty has returned from her recent trip to New York.

Meteor Misses Bull's Eye.

Linton, Ind., April 1 (AP)—A meteor almost scored a bull's eye on the monument erected to mark the center of population of the United States. H. A. Kramer, Linton rural mail carrier, searching the countryside with hundreds of other Linton citizens today for the cause of the flash seen during the night and the explosion which shook and damaged houses, found the crater hole—six feet across—half a mile east of the monument. Prof. C. A. Mallett of Indiana University will make an effort to recover the meteor.

On The Radio Day By Day

Time is Eastern Standard.

New York, April 2 (AP).—A silk top hat, in keeping with the Easter environment, will house the newly developed NBC micro-wave radio station when it gets its first real tryout in broadcasting. It will be the network's sidewalk description of the Easter fashion parade along Fifth avenue. The silk-hat transmitter, sized 7 1/2, will be worn by announcer George Hicks because he happens to fit the hat. He will be appropriately attired otherwise in formal cutaway. At his lips will be a pocket-size microphone and under his coat a cartridge belt, bearing in place of 14-cauge shotgun shells, 30 small 6-volt batteries to produce 180 volts and four others to light the three tiny acorn type transmitting tubes. The transmitter itself, weighing only 11 ounces, has been built into the crown of the hat along with a hollow aluminum rod six and one-half inches high for the antenna. It is connected by an inconspicuous cable to the battery belt, which also has a couple of operating switches and the microphone connection. Because the range will be only a quarter mile, the chain's motorized transmitter will be trailing along close to Hicks. It in turn will transmit from the silk-hat station using 1.1 meters, or 270 kilocycles, to the network on a longer short wave. As originally designed by the NBC engineers, the micro-wave set was housed in a three-inch cube "cabinet."

Under a further change, the proposed interview of Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas by H. V. Kaltenborn has been rescheduled for CBS on April 30. It had been originally set for this Sunday, but was temporarily cancelled, then inserted in the future list again.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—After more than 50 years in show business, Fred Stone looks around and opines that the best advice he can give ambitious youngsters is to stay out of show business.

He qualifies that, of course. "What I mean," he says, "is that there are too many young people wanting to break into the business without being really qualified for it. It's those dancing and drama schools," he pursues with a gesture of disgust. "You see 'em all around town nowadays, youngsters who ought to be keeping their minds on their lessons and all they're doing is tapping, tapping, tapping. Go into a drugstore and you see kids around the soda fountain, practicing taps as they sip a soda."

"Most of 'em are tackling something they've got no business trying. My own girls? Well, I saw to it that Dorothy, Paula and Carol finished their education before they started in show business."

"Myself? I didn't get much schooling. Not because I didn't want it, mind you. I was too busy making my living to have any time for much formal education. But that's what I'd tell the kids nowadays: Get through school first, and then if you still want to try the theater, go to it!"

Motor Car Problem

The departure of Mae West and Marlene Dietrich from the Paramount fold simplifies one problem at that studio: the appearance on the lot of the stars' limousines. The Dietrich machine, until Miss West arrived, was the only car allowed to pass through the gates. Came Mae, and she wanted to know who Marlene was that she could drive in while Mae couldn't. Mae drove in.

With both gone now, Marlene temporarily, there'll be nobody riding through the gates—until some other star steps up and makes demands.

A Point Of Grammar

Grammarians will topple from their seats at "Captain January," Shirley Temple's latest. George Irving as the wealthy, cultured father, U. S. ambassador to Morocco asks, "Does she feel badly?" And Slim Summerville, grizzled old diamond-in-the-rough salt, replies, "Yes, she does feel bad."

Alan Dinehart has a paperweight made of whale bone, present from a fan. . . The movie mills grind slowly: Julie Haydon, discovered anew in last year's "The Scoundrel," is only now getting another assignment—in Vivia Delmar's "The End of the World" . . . Bing Crosby's favorite song is still "I Surrender, Dear" . . . after all these years. . .

At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "Love Before Breakfast." Considered a skillful blend of comedy and sophistication by its producers, this Universal Picture tells of a harum-scarum young lady who is cut down on her proper size by a man whose fistic ability is unquestioned. In fact, in one of the scenes which may be the highlight of the show, the hero uncorks a punch that lands on the heroine with such gusto and marksmanship that she has one of the classiest "shiners" ever seen on the talking screen. The dialogue tries to be smart and often is and the acting is above average with Carole Lombard, Preston Foster, Cesar Romero and Janet Beecher all sharing the honors.

Kingston: "Exclusive Story" and "Timothy's Quest." The dramatization of Martin Mooney's crusade against racketeers and vice is the substance of the first picture at the Kingston. Martin Mooney, as you remember, was the New York city newspaper reporter who knew all about the "policy racket" and was hauled into court for refusal to give information. The movie tells of a girl whose father is a "policy racket" victim and how she gets a newspaper to expose the whole rotten mess. Franchot Tone, Madge Evans, Stuart Erwin, Joseph Calleia and Robert Barrat are in the cast. "Timothy's Quest" tells of a couple of orphans who run away from their home and win the heart of an old maid who keeps them after much excitement. Dickie Moore, Tom Keane, Eleanor Whitney and Elizabeth Patterson are featured.

Orpheum: "Dancing Feet" and "Ivory Handled Gun." Republic Pictures finds a suitable plot structure that centers around the younger generation versus the old in the first picture at the Orpheum. Rich grandmother doesn't like the way her granddaughter is racing around with a dancing play boy and the girl finally lands a job as a dance hall hostess. She becomes a famous dancer and she and her dancing partner work out on a new step that even grandmother enjoys. Joan Marsh, Ben Lyon and Eddie Nugent are in the cast. "Ivory Handled Gun" brings one of the screen's highest paid actors in a mildly exciting drama. Buck Jones is the star, the hero and the big gun from first to last.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.
Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "Three Kids and a Queen" and "Valley of Wanted Men." Comedy is the main objective of the first picture, a comedy that starts out with a fake kidnapping until it develops into the real thing and causes some lively action. May Robinson is fine as the eccentric, millionaire lady and Henry Armetta lends able and ample support. "Valley of Wanted Men" is the other full length feature, an adventure tale with the youthful Frankie Darrow featured.

High School Group To Present Circus

Big-top enthusiasts need not wait this year for the traditional scorching weather which usually heralds circus day. For on Friday night of this week, the circus will come to town in all its glory. Clowns, tumblers, roller-skaters, dancers, to say nothing of grotesque animals will make their appearance on Broadway at 6:30 for the preliminary parade. From the High School to the Broadway theatre and back to the Municipal Auditorium they will march.

At 7 o'clock at the Municipal Auditorium, the side shows will be opened, and you will have an opportunity to see the world's curiosities perform their stupendous stunts. They will keep you entertained until 8 o'clock when the big show will start. One can hear the harmonica band, see the jugglers and tumblers, watch the graceful roller-skating act, and admire the balance and nerve of the ladder-walkers. Of course, there will be a circus band and clowns galore!

These 19 big acts of circus vaudeville are being brought to you by the Kingston High School Athletic Association.

The Amateur Gardener.
How fine it is to labor in the garden.
To watch my wit with that of worm and bug.
To feel my flabby biceps bulge and harden.
To contemplate the furrows I have dug.
How fine it is to hoe the stubborn
weed.
To grasp the thistle in my blistered hands.
To pile the little pebbles on the seed.
To walk about in shoes half full of sand.
How fine and useful is this work I do.
And some time I may raise a bean or two!

No, sir, we don't want a horse, but want a hobby we can ride without every other hobby rider shouting that we are nuts.

Specialist:—Could you pay for an operation if I thought one was necessary?

Patient:—Would you find one necessary if I could not pay for it?

The only trouble with a woman changing her mind is that the new one doesn't seem to work any better.

She was struggling with a hot cup of coffee in a small-town railway station, trying to gulp it before the train pulled out. A cowboy, seated a couple of stools away, noted her plight and seeing the guard waiting to the woman that her train was ready to leave, came to the fore.
"Here, ma'am, you can take my cup of coffee. It's already sauced and blowed."

The Modern Way.
Girls who smile and gaze at boys.
Play with them instead of toys.
And, like the kiddies—here's the

the silver and another in the pantry eating my pie. Get up and call for help.
Hubby (at window)—Police!
Doctor!

After a man acquires the taste to become a model husband he is never very much good for much else.
Man:—There's nothing the matter with the country. All it requires is a better type of settler and a decent water supply.

Come to think of it, those are the only drawbacks to Hades.

Vim, Vigor, Vitality, and punch.
The courage to act on a sudden hunch.
The nerve to tackle the hardest thing
With feet that climb and hands that cling.
And a heart that never forgets to sing.—That's Pep!

Janice:—So Lillie threw over that young doctor she was going with!
Clarice:—Yes, and what do you think? He not only requested her to return his presents, but sent her a bill for forty-seven visits.

It is refreshing to find an occasional churchman who concedes that world peace is born in the hearts of man, not in making America defenseless before an armed world.

Wife:—Remember, darling, you won't always be a junior clerk in a moldy old office.

Hubby:—That's a fact! I've already got a week's notice.

The easiest way to make a man

THE CROSS-EXAMINATION

By Frank H. Berk

Avid Bible Reader

Mrs. Kibbie Comer, 99, of Sherman, Tex., says she has read the New Testament 125 times and the Old Testament 63 times in the 78 years she has read the Bible daily. She is shown above with her well-thumbed volume. (Associated Press Photo)

Women's Necklaces Are Traced Back to 600 B. C.

In the tombs of Egyptian and Greco-Roman women of rank, necklaces made of exquisitely fashioned gold beads, interspersed with colored glass ones, as amber, cornelian, garnet, and crystal have been found, and in 600 B. C. necklaces were shipped from Egypt by the Phoenicians to Greece.

Gold and amber beads of the Bronze Age are found in Southern England and Ireland.

In the Neolithic and later periods the wearing of beads appears to have been universal in all parts of the world, and such trouble was taken to make many of them that they were probably used more as luck charms than as ornaments. In Egypt the word for them was "Shasha," the syllable "Sha" being the Egyptian word for luck.

Since the Middle Ages the manufacture of beads for sale or barter has been carried on in Europe, and explorers have at all times found them invaluable when dealing with natives.
Many of the early trade beads are still greatly prized in the countries where they have been sold.

Halle Selassie doubtless realizes that if this latest European crisis is settled peacefully, no matter how it is settled, the settlement is going to cost him plenty.

No Soldiers Seen in Martial Law Order

Oklahoma City, April 2 (AP)—Gov. E. W. Marland's martial law became effective today in the capitol grounds oil drilling dispute, but not a soldier was in sight.

Only the clanking of oil field machinery disturbed complete peace along the "front" state land adjoining territory recently opened to drillers.

The adjutant general was directed to protect the rights of the state on its lands not included in the new tract.

Oklahoma City authorities have abused the power granted them by the state," the governor said, threatening to appeal to the people, threatening to strip the city of power to prevent oil drilling on state land and permit drilling anywhere in the city.

"The people of the state will not permit themselves to be robbed by such high-handed methods."

Daylight Saving Begins on April 26

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Daylight saving will return to 36 cities and 75 villages in New York state at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, April 26. It will continue through September 27.

Clocks will be pushed ahead one hour.

The change of time also launches the perennial dispute as to the benefits or disadvantages of daylight saving. Arguments for both views are many.

Advantages of the plan as listed in a schedule released by E. D. Greenman, assistant director of the state conference of mayors, include:

Daylight saving substitutes a cool morning working hour for a warm afternoon period.

It increases daylight in the hours of greatest fatigue.

It reduces eye strain.

And it allows use of recreational facilities upon which cities and towns spend large sums.

Opponents of the time change, however, say it makes more difficult the task of putting young children to bed; some farming operations cannot be done while day is on the ground, and it is difficult to persuade farm labor to begin work earlier.

Cities on the daylight saving schedule will include Albany, Amsterdam, Beacon, Buffalo, Cohoes, Fulton, Glens Falls, Glen Cove, Gloversville, Hudson, Johnstown, Kingston, Lackawanna, Little Falls, Lockport, Long Beach, Mechanicville, Middletown, Mount Vernon, Newburgh, New Rochelle, New York, Niagara Falls, North Tonawanda, Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Rensselaer, Rome, Schenectady, Saratoga Springs, Troy, Tonawanda, Utica, Watervliet, White Plains and Yonkers.

Jamestown will change over on June 2 and Plattsburgh on June 16, continuing through September 2 and 8 respectively.

Services Announced At Temple Emanuel

Services will be held at Temple Emanuel on Friday evening, April 3, at 7:30 o'clock. Rabbi Bloom will preach.

The Saturday morning Bible class will meet at the rabbi's home on Saturday, April 4, from 10 to 12 o'clock.

The Young Folks group will meet on Sunday evening, April 5, at the rabbi's home at 8 o'clock. The topic will be "Nationalism vs. Internationalism."

Monday evening, April 6, at 8:30, Passover Eve services will be held at Temple Emanuel. Rabbi Bloom will preach on "Is Religious Tradition Bondage?"

Wednesday evening the Adult Class in Hebrew and American Jewish History will meet at the home of one of its members.

Slaterhood will meet on Wednesday, April 8, at 2:30 p. m. in the

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Washable cotton dinner gowns greet warm weather. Diana Marwin

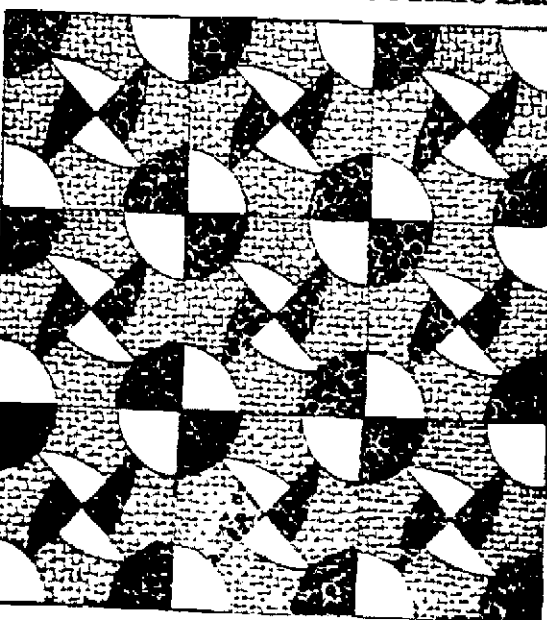

The new styles for dressy spring and early summer gowns show colorful cottons and linens vying with other sheer fabrics for popularity. Cottons and linens possess the feature of washability which must be considered in planning a practical wardrobe for warmer days and evenings.

The new dressy cottons are especially colorful and inspiring with crisp white pique accents, tailored effects, pleating, lacing, periums, tucks and graceful skirts.

The smart floor-length dinner gown of washable cotton, sketched above, is brimming over with style. The lovely print has a red background with a scatter leaf design in navy blue, while the finely pleated white pique trim on its brief sleeves, bodice front and pockets adds a softening touch and makes a glorious tri-color combination.

This self-belted model follows somewhat tailored lines of shirt-maker theme with its boyish collar and self bow at the neckline. The back of the bodice is slashed and the skirt with two novel pointed pockets, is kick pleated at the front for hem fullness.

Elevator operators in New York went out on strike recently, which may indicate that they are tired of a hard day's work and want to go home.

Of all the "special" days marked in red or starred on each year's calendar, aren't you a bit partial to the little square which says "Mother's Day"? It's the one time of the year when you formally pay tribute to the dearest person in the world; and as compared to other "holy" days Mother's Day is the most personal, the most meaningful of them all.

Some relief rollers say that after buying food and gasoline and beer for the month they find they don't have anything left for the other essentials of life.

Port Ewen Scout Meeting on Monday

The Port Ewen Boy Scouts held a business and social meeting Monday evening, four officials, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Slaght, Mr. Short and Mr. Goertz, one visitor, Edward Maines, and 24 scouts being present.

The meeting was opened at 7:25 by John Spinneweber in the regular order. The drill and march exercises were held from 7:30 until 7:45 o'clock. Following the collection of dues and reading of the minutes Mr. Goertz, scoutmaster, talked to the boys about going to Camp Half-Moon this summer. He mentioned the fact that there were a few jobs open at camp this summer—waterfront man, handcraft director, section leader and dishwasher. He said that if any of the fellows wanted to apply for any of these positions to hand their names to him. He also told the boys to go to camp if they possibly could.

At 8:05 o'clock the troop was dismissed, all saying the scout benediction in unison and the Panther Patrol went into the kitchen to prepare the supper. The rest of the scouts indulged in the following games: Crab race, fish relay, king of Spain, Cracker eating contest, and they all joined the Royal Order of Slam by saying "O-Wa-Ta-Goo-Slam" until they found out what it meant. The games were directed by one of the older scouts under the supervision of Mr. Goertz and the scout committee.

By 8:15 o'clock the supper was ready and there was a big scramble for the tables. Before the boys started eating they listened to the speakers of the evening. Mr. Goertz introduced Principal Lewis, who gave a short, interesting talk. In concluding he mentioned the fact that Benjamin Franklin was one of the first men to organize a fire company. This led to the introduction of the next speaker, Edward Maines, chief of the Port Ewen Fire Department.

Mr. Maines started his talk by giving a brief history of the match. He said that the first way fire was made was by friction. The chief then told of some damages caused by fire. He mentioned the fact that Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's wife was burned to death. He gave the boys some special precautions that should be taken in case of matches at home and in the forests. He continued by saying burned forests are a great loss because of the present financial value and because of the long period of time it takes to restore them. The chief then asked the boys, "What would the United States look like without a forest or a small wood lot?" These trees help prevent floods which do so much damage, they also help prevent erosion of the soil. He told the fellows to keep this question in mind when they are in the woods on a camping trip. In conclusion he told the boys of one of his own experiences with a fire that was started three times in the same day. He thinks that the fellow who sent in the alarm was the fellow who was lighting it just to see the firemen there. The last time the fire started this fellow almost lost his home just by his thoughtlessness. His last statement was, "So boys be careful of fire."

The scoutmaster then told the fire chief that the boys would help the fire company in any way that the fire company wished them to. They would do it as a good turn. Mr. Goertz then announced that all the scouts going on the hike next Saturday were to meet at his house at 2 o'clock and bring with them the proper supplies needed to pass the various tests.

Motion Pictures at Rotary Luncheon

Four reels of motion picture film were served as the entertainment in the Governor Clinton Hotel yesterday noon. The pictures were feature at the Rotary club luncheon brought to the local service club through the courtesy of the Chevrolet Motor Car Company and the Colonial City Chevrolet of this city.

The film, aided by talking and sound effects, included a news reel presentation that showed a boy of bathing beauties against a background of palms and a new Chevrolet sedan. Other scenes shown in the news included a showing of winter sports and a game whereby children learned to obey the rules of traffic.

The other reels of film gave an interesting picture of the many improvements built into modern automobiles. The safety advantages of solid steel bodies and knee action wheels were demonstrated and there was also another reel that showed the difficult art of sky writing with an airplane. The last reel was a dramatized lecture on the necessity of careful driving and stressed the importance of an automobile driver considering himself in the same category as a railroad engineer. The film explained that each car driver should live up to the rules of safety in order to insure freedom of accidents to himself, to the other driver and to the pedestrian. A short talk by Charles A. Harnett, New York state commissioner of motor vehicles, concluded the presentation with Mr. Harnett urging automobile drivers to obey the rules of traffic in order to make the highways safe and accident free.

WPA Worker Held As Break Accomplish

New York, April 2 (AP)—A WPA worker assigned to make electrical repairs at the Morrisania police station in the Bronx was under arrest today charged with aiding two prisoners in an attempted escape, culminated by the shooting of one of the pair and the stabbing of a guard.

The accused man, booked as Joseph Bruno, 32, supplied a revolver. Captain Patrick McVeigh said, which John Alex and Costa Demetrowitz used in the plot. Bruno also was charged with violation of the Sullivan act.

The escape was attempted Tuesday night when the two prisoners, being led from their cells to see a priest, suddenly turned on their guard, Frank McGarry. Aid arrived for McGarry and the pair surrendered.

McVeigh said Alex identified Bruno as the man to whom he paid $250 for the revolver a week ago.

KIDNAPERS, NOT SALESMEN, PERIL FARMERS' DAUGHTERS

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Secretary Wallace, philosopher, economist and author, today stepped into a new role—protector of the farmer's daughter from the snares of kidnapers.

With tongue in cheek, Wallace suggested that if the government should publish a list of cash payments made to farmers under the AAA, kidnapers might transfer their activities from big cities to the broad acres.

They might, he feared, seize farmers' daughters and hold them for ransom. Similar fears for the safety of income taxpayers' daughters were voiced, he recalled, during the agitation for the repeal of the famous "pink slip" law requiring publicity on incomes.

His remarks were the latest development in a so-far inconclusive encounter between him and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.).

Vandenberg is trying to get from AAA a list of persons who have received more than $10,000 a year in benefit payments; the AAA says it has not the time nor facilities now to inspect 20,000,000 cards of AAA data and compile the list.

Mrs. Harry Walker Spoke at Highland

Highland, April 2.—Mrs. Harry Walker of Kingston was the first speaker at the meeting of the Women's Club Tuesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Gay Bradt. Van den Berg of New Paltz is chairman of the State Committee on Education and is urging the use of the text books prepared for the clubs. The first lesson included pronunciation, phrases, grammar, speech habits, vocabulary developments, etc. She said the World War developed some 2500 new words and now there is considered to be 600,000 distinctive words with perhaps half that number in use.

Mrs. Albert W. Buckbee of Warwick, gave a short talk on The League of Women Voters and that it developed following suffrage being given to women when it was found that there was a need of instruction. The members are interested in good government and have patriotic ideals. She used a pictured outline showing how law and good government reaches into the home. It is a National organization and this state is divided into seven regions of which this area comes in the 2nd region. There are active organizations in New Jersey, Maryland, New York and Pennsylvania. Meetings are held quarterly and round table discussions held. The league never endorses either party or candidate. Among the chief topics they work for is government and its operation; government and education; government and child welfare; government and economic welfare; government and legal status of women; government and foreign policy.

Early Tuesday morning a consignment of three trucks loaded with Packard cars on their way to Newark, N. J., took the wrong turn and landed in the village and had quite a time making the short turns of the streets to get back on the Port Jervis road. One of the drivers read the sign at the bridge entrance "Trucks keep to the right" and turned right into the Connelly road, the driver thinking, like some other towns, heavy traffic had to detour from the main road.

"Lucky" Luciano to Fight Extradition

Hot Springs, Ark., April 1 (AP).—Charles ("Lucky") Luciano, reputed ringleader of a $12,000,000 New York racket, directed from his jail cell today a fight against extradition to face charges of compulsory prostitution.

Just as unexpectedly as he gained his freedom on a $5,000 bail, Luciano was rearrested last night and lodged in a courthouse basement jail pending habeas corpus hearing late today.

Special prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, branding Luciano "the most dangerous and important racketeer in New York if not in the country," rushed an assistant to the court to seek custody of the man he accused of heading a ring controlling a chain of disorderly houses throughout the metropolis.

Under surveillance of Detective Charles Brennan of the New York police department since January, when he was in Florida, Luciano was taken into custody yesterday afternoon on the grounds of this racketeer's "Bith House Row," jailed for four hours and then released on $5,000 bail.

Before Chancellor Sam W. Garrett, I cannot understand how any judge could make such an order unless he was ignorant of the facts," Dewey said, adding Hot Springs officials had been asked to hold Luciano on $100,000 bond with the expectation that an indictment would be returned against him.

Several hours later, Chancellor Garrett ordered Luciano retaken, revoking the bond and placed him in custody of the sheriff without bail pending hearing set for 4 p. m. today.

The chancellor explained that his granting of the $5,000 bail resulted from the impression that Luciano was a moral charge, declaring that when he learned the seriousness of the case he immediately saw to it that the reputed vice czar was returned to jail.

Roosevelt Fishes Deep Waters

Miami, Fla., April 2 (AP).—The heaviest fishing tackle aboard the U. S. S. Potomac was hauled out today by President Roosevelt and his fishing mates as the deep waters of the "tongue of the ocean" were approached. Mr. Roosevelt is anxious to find just what kind of fish inhabit this hole in the Atlantic—a thousand fathoms deep. The spot is about 280 miles southeast from here and is surrounded by coral reefs which give it the shape of a tongue.

Throughout the state, more than a million trees will be planted by 4-H club members and students of agriculture, with the aid of the state conservation department. Revised figures show that the spring's planting will total 1,042,000 young trees and will total for the 10-year period 10,437,000 trees.

'Mountain Cowboys' Drop From Clouds In Northwest's Dare-Devil Ski Meet

By FRANK GORRUE

Tacoma, Wash. (AP)—The most daring athletic stunt of the Pacific Northwest is scheduled for April 19 when some 60 "mountain cowboys" will climb into the clouds 10,000 feet above sea level and attempt to ride their hickory staves down the treacherous slopes of Mount Rainier in the third annual race of the "Silver Skis."

A 4,000-Foot Drop
They will travel up to 60 miles an hour in the wild dash to the finish mark, 4 miles and 4,000 feet below in Paradise Valley.

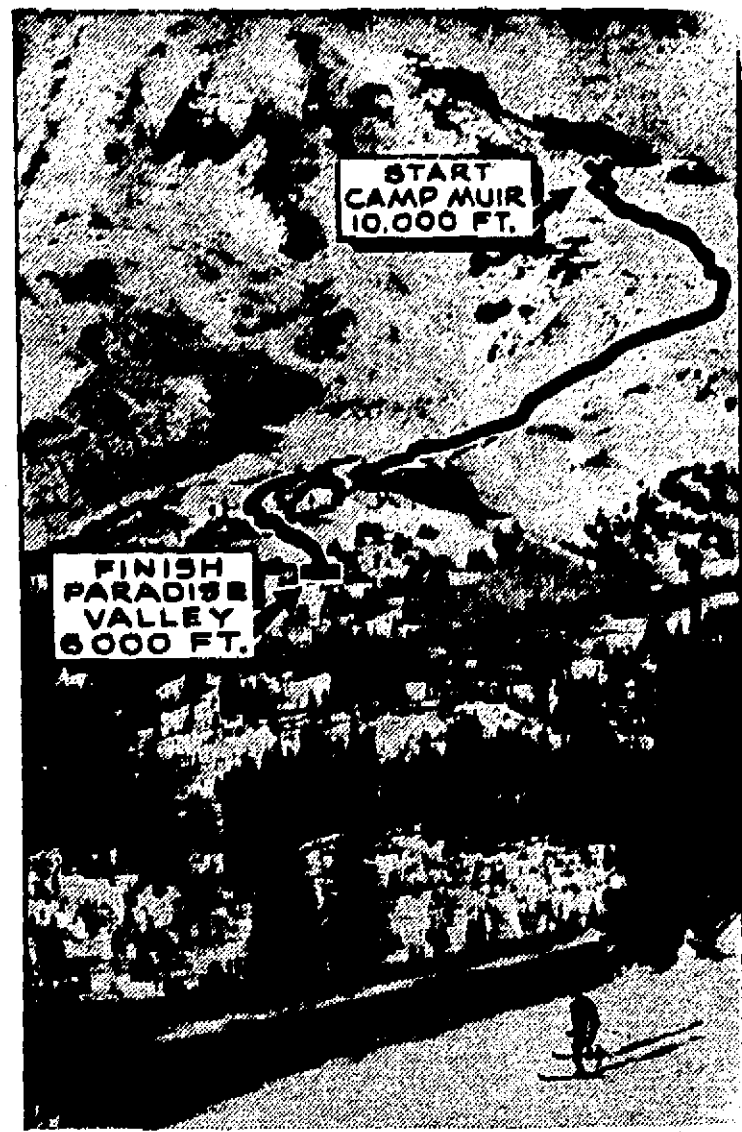

On the same diabolic course may be found old pieces of broken skis and poles—grim reminders of the two previous races in which several contestants "cracked up."

It will take from five to six hours to climb to the starting point at Camp Muir—and only about 10 minutes to streak back down. But it probably will be the most grueling 10 minutes of skiing to be found in the United States.

The most dangerous hurdle of the chute is the steep dip of Panorama, an ice cliff that drops approximately 500 feet at a 35 to 40 degree angle. It was the stumbling block of many entrants in the Olympic trials and national championships held at Rainier last spring.

Versatility Necessary
Every type of race problem will be encountered on the long, swirling sloop. Neither stamina nor ability alone will win the event. Checking, traversing, quick turns and poling all will be needed to keep skiers from hurtling off into space.

This year the contestants will start in flights of 10 or 20 to prevent mass collisions and injuries.

The West's best skiers will zip down this treacherous course on Mount Rainier at speeds ranging up to 60 miles an hour on April 19. They'll drop 4,000 feet in four miles.

A hundred ski riders from California, Oregon, Washington and western Canada are expected to seek entrance, but only the tough, experienced veterans will be allowed to compete.

Parent-Teacher Associations

Federated Council.

Professor Theron Culver, in his address to members of the Federated Council, Wednesday afternoon at the high school, stressed many interesting and helpful points on the subject of "After High School, What?"

It is a very hard question to answer in the changing circumstances of present days. Vocational guidance is being recognized more and more as being vital to helping the child solve this question. A study of his earlier years, at home and in school, is essential before any advice can be given.

Intelligent guidance, with all the facts placed before the child, is all that can be given. He must make his own choice. This done, he should read biographies, talk to men successful in that occupation, and try to have actual experience during the summer vacations, learning the hours, the ups and downs, the costs and returns, and the chances for advancement.

Hereditary—physical, mental, moral and social, plays a part in the child's life, as do his character attributes, adaptability, social ease, imagination, personal appearance, taking of criticism and power of relaxation and thought.

There are many applicants for each position these days. The lucky one will be he who can see beyond the daily routine, and is willing to do more than his share.

A great many graduates will go on to college, a great many more will desire to, but because of economic pressure will feel unable to do so. It is not so easy to earn one's way through college these days. But there are smaller institutions, many in the south, where expenses are very slight and scholastic grading high. There are many schools where tuition is free. Normal schools give college credits, later enabling a transfer to a state college.

But there are newer fields opening up for boys and girls which are far from overcrowded. Some of these are child guidance, health service, building trades, six agricultural courses in New York state alone, ceramics, auto mechanics and many others.

Guidance towards life work is the biggest challenge that schools have yet encountered. An adequate vocational guidance department should be in every school to give each child the help he needs or asks for.

Friday afternoon, April 3, at 2:30, at the Saugerties Library, Dr. May Penhody will hold the second in a series of five classes. The discussion will be on "The American High School." Anyone desirous of attending should get in touch with Mrs. Joseph Craig or Mrs. John Roosa.

Arrest Is Expected In Wendel Case

Trenton, April 2 (AP)—A high state official said today that an arrest was expected shortly of a member of the abduction gang which wrung a "confession" to the Lindbergh baby killing from Paul H. Wendel, disbarred Trenton attorney. The arrest, possibly of the "brains" of the gang, the official said, was expected to follow quickly, possibly today, from information and descriptions furnished New York and New Jersey authorities last night by Wendel.

Wendel was questioned in his cell in Mercer county (Trenton) jail last night by Assistant District Attorney William McGinnis of Brooklyn.

Variety of Dodge Trucks

With the Dodge truck plant output reaching high levels this month, the above picture gives evidence of the wide variety of types and sizes of trucks and commercial cars that are coming off the assembly lines every day.

The World

Retail deliveries of Studebaker cars and trucks totaled 3,803 for the first 20 days of March compared with 2,285 in the corresponding period of 1935, according to President Paul G. Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman noted that this is an increase of 66 per cent as against an increase of 49 per cent for the year to date.

The Cadillac Motor Car Company reports the largest March business since 1929, including a five-fold increase in the sales of the ultra-luxurious custom built Cadillac-Fleetwood line. "A steadily growing demand for custom Fleetwood bodies on the larger Cadillac V-8, V-12 and V-16 chassis has been noted ever since announcement of the 1936 series last October," said Nicholas Dreyfus, general manager of the company. "The number of inquiries we are receiving for Fleetwood bodies built to individual specifications would seem to indicate that our quality car clientele has decided prosperity is back to stay. Cadillac-Fleetwood orders also are beginning to come in from abroad. Among them is a request from Prof. Ignatz Moedekl, president of Poland, for a special Fleetwood body on a Cadillac V-16 chassis."

Judge Refuses to Rule Out Death Penalty in Trial of Vera Stretz

New York, April 2 (AP)—Vera Stretz's attorney pleaded for her freedom today after Judge Cornelius Collins refused to rule out the death penalty as a possible verdict in her murder trial.

Samuel Liebowitz, noted defense counsel, pictured Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, whom the attractive blonde secretary has admitted slaying, as a polished but insincere lover.

"Miss Stretz is an educated woman, a woman of the world, but a sucker for a man like that," he said.

"He never gave this woman a dollar in his life. What could he offer her except that a woman values more than life itself—respectability?"

"What did he give her? Work. While he was abroad, she slaved for him, working through the heat of the summer in his office."

Miss Stretz sat with eyes downcast while the attorney gestured and paced the floor. He held aloft a ring which Miss Stretz said the German industrialist had given her.

"It was just a ring," he said, "but it blotted out all the pain and the heartache and the sorrow she had ever known. It was an engagement ring."

"When he went abroad," Liebowitz went on, "he told her he was going to tell his wife about his love for Vera, that he would get a divorce and marry her."

He added, "Why didn't Gebhardt want this woman to tell anything about their engagement. Because he never intended to marry her. That was the type of man he was."

The case may go to the jury tonight if the final arguments are concluded in time. Miles O'Brien, assistant district attorney, was to follow Liebowitz.

Judge Collins refused to dismiss the first degree murder charge against the 32-year-old college graduate.

His ruling will make possible a verdict of death in the electric chair, a prison sentence, or acquittal.

The judge announced his decision at the opening of court. He had taken under advisement yesterday arguments for and against the motion.

Miss Stretz had admitted shooting her 43-year-old lover, Dr. Fritz Gebhardt, but has pleaded self-defense. He was killed, she testified, during a struggle in his skyscraper apartment early last November 12.

Judge Collins called on attorneys to begin their final arguments to the "blue ribbon" jury, but cautioned the latter against letting arguments between judge and counsel affect its view point.

Samuel Liebowitz, who has insisted premeditation has not been established, shouted to the prosecution as he opened his address:

"Prove, I dare you, that she did not have the right to kill that man as the law governing her case stipulates."

He reiterated to the jury his contention that premeditation had not been proved by the state.

"Please put passion out of your hearts," pleaded the attorney.

"The same law for the man and the same law for the woman—that's my proposition in this case."

He continued:

"Because a woman submits to a man's importunings is no reason she must do it again."

"If a man attacks a woman of the streets, he is just as guilty of attack as if he forced himself on a vestal virgin."

"He is guilty of a felony. So it is with unnatural relations between man and woman. If she seeks to prevent that, she is not guilty of murder, manslaughter or anything else."

The attorney asked the jury not to reach a "compromise" verdict.

"Don't," he said, "say to yourselves that you won't be so hard on her, that anyway she killed a man, and ought to be punished in some way."

Salaky is Indicted for Murder of Siegel

police officers, Sheriff Molyneux and his deputies and District Attorney Clifton B. Murray had gone to Ulster Heights where the shooting had taken place. When the abandoned car was found the police spread out through the woods to look for Salaky whom it was known had disappeared in the woods carrying his gun.

While the officers were searching in the vicinity of the crime Salaky was apprehended by Ellenville police officers and taken to the office of District Attorney Murray in Ellenville where he was held until the officers at Ulster Heights could be notified and return to the village.

Result of Imagination

The shooting is alleged to have taken place as a result of an imagination which Salaky held. He apparently believed that Siegel and a neighboring girl were too friendly and taking the part of protector he undertook to protect the girl from some imaginary attention.

The day prior to the shooting Salaky had called at the Stark home and one of the Stark brothers had ordered Salaky away from the matter which Salaky apparently had on his mind in relation to Mollie Stark, the 13-year-old girl whom Salaky apparently thought he should protect.

At the time of the shooting it was stated that Salaky had been acting in a queer manner for some time and on the day of the shooting one of the Stark family had gone to Ellenville to get a warrant for Salaky's arrest. Complaint had been made to the Troopers of the actions of Salaky and the day of the shooting a warrant had been sought.

The gun with which the shooting was done was found on March 22 by Sergeant John Hopkins near a spot in the creek where Salaky said he threw the gun away on his way to Ellenville.

The three families resided in the same general neighborhood in the Ulster Heights section.

Magland Indicted.

Among the 15 open indictments reported by the grand jury this morning was one charging Louis Magland, North street negro, with manslaughter, first degree. The act upon which the indictment is based took place on January 23 in this city when Anna Sampson, said to have been the common law wife of Magland, was fatally burned. At the time it was reported that she had been starting a fire when her clothing caught fire. She died later in the Kingston Hospital from the burns.

It developed later that Magland had thrown kerosene over her clothing and touched a match to her. However after he had started a blaze he took a change of heart and attempted to beat out the fire and was himself badly burned. In imposing a sentence of from 10 to 20 years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora, Justice Bergan said that only the fact that Magland had taken a change of heart and had tried to save the woman, did he escape a murder charge.

Dann Is Sentenced.

Albert J. Dann of Schryver Court, for many years employed at the L. S. Winne hardware store on Wall street, entered a plea of guilty to grand larceny, first degree, alleged in two counts. The act is alleged to have taken place on December 16, and involves the taking of funds from the store. Dann entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to a term of 1 1/2 to 2 years in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora. In imposing sentence Justice Bergan said that Mr. Dann was a man of intelligence and he did not need to lecture him on his error as he felt that Dann, who had held a responsible position, fully knew the seriousness of his acts.

Wilber Indicted.

George L. Wilber, Ramalhe Wilber and Richard Wilber of Lake Hill were indicted for burglary, third degree, growing out of a chicken stealing episode on February 5. The three boys entered pleas of guilty to unlawful entry, waived the usual two days' time and agreed to sentence immediately. Justice Bergan sentenced them to one year in the county jail but suspended sentence so long as they behave themselves. They were paroled to the probation officer.

Frank Ropinski and Percy Lasher who were charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry in the town of Saugerties on February 16, last, entered pleas of not guilty. The charge is they entered a cellar and took therefrom some cider. However, Ropinski is alleged to be a second offender and bail was fixed at $2,500. A. J. Cook appeared for Ropinski. Lasher had bail fixed at $2,500 also and said he had no counsel but could get an attorney.

Ernest Lillard, who was charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry to the Arthur C. Dietrich cottage in town of New Paltz on February 17, last, entered a plea of guilty and waived the usual two days' time and consented to immediate sentence. He has a prior burglary conviction. District Attorney Murray filed with the court the result of a mental examination made of Lillard and suggested that Lillard was a fit subject for Napanoch. On the report of physicians Justice Bergan sentenced Lillard to the Institution for Male Defective Delinquents at Napanoch.

Herman Hill and Michael Caser, charged with arson, third degree, growing out of the burning of the Shultz barn at Chichester on December 23, both entered a plea of not guilty. They said they would seek counsel. Hill said William D. Brinck, Jr., was his attorney.

French Sentenced.

Robert R. French of Catskill was sentenced to a term of from 5 to 10 years in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora when he entered a plea of guilty to a grand larceny indictment that French took the Chevrolet car of Claude Markle of Kingston, taximan, and drove it to Lake Katrine where the car was wrecked in a snow-bank. This was on February 20 and the charge was grand larceny, second degree. French admitted that he had been convicted of grand larceny in New Jersey on August 14, 1933, and had served a 1 to 2 year term in Trenton. In imposing sentence Justice Bergan said that he was compelled to impose a rather severe sentence under the law. The taking of the Chevrolet car he said did not warrant quite so severe a sentence as he showed the case but the law made it necessary to impose the sentence.

French took the car from the West Shore station in order to get to his home in Catskill. He said he had been working as a stevedock-jack in Poughkeepsie and on his way to Catskill. At Lake Katrine he abandoned the car and stole another near the scene and continued on to Saugerties where Trooper Keefe arrested French. For the taking of the second car no indictment was handed up as the grand jury felt that the value of this second car did not warrant an indictment for grand larceny.

Angelo Pecko charged with assault at the Half Moon restaurant on Foxhall avenue on September 29, was arraigned on a second degree assault charge. He pleaded not guilty and bail was set at $1,500. Frank Campochiaro appeared for defendant.

Joseph Tésaro, John Durham and Linus Quinn were arraigned on a charge of being common gamblers, the act is alleged to have taken place on Broadway on March 13, when it is alleged crap games and bookmaking were indulged in. Herman Katz appeared for the defendants and entered pleas of guilty and asked that the court be lenient. Fines of $100 each were imposed and paid.

No Bills of Indictment.

No bills of indictment were found in the following cases and where the defendant was on bail the bail was canceled and in cases where the defendant was in custody the court directed that the defendant be discharged:

Frank Doyle of Saugerties, charged with abandonment.

Robert R. French, Catskill, charged with taking a car at Lake Katrine. The grand jury found the car was not of sufficient value to justify a grand larceny indictment.

James Caser, Shandaken, charged with burglary.

Robert Garrison, Glasco, assault, Kingston Knitting Mills, Inc., charged with failure to comply with labor laws.

Harold Van Ethen, Chichester, held on assault, second degree, charge.

Ernest Terrell, North street, Kingston, held on an assault charge. Eleven sealed indictments were filed and transferred to county court on motion of Mr. Murray. All open indictments not disposed of were also transferred to county court.

Justice Bergan adjourned the court to chambers at Albany.

WISKEY INDICTMENT WITHHELD BY JURY

New York, April 2 (AP)—Prosecution of Michael Wiskey, 54-year-old bartender, on a charge of criminally attacking 15-year-old Marie Woron, charged with strangling her day-old baby, appeared forestalled today by a grand jury's refusal to indict him.

It was brought out in her interrupted trial in general sessions last week that Wiskey had befriended the girl who had lived with him just before the birth of the baby. She testified the father was a man named Joe who had deserted her. The grand jury decision on Wiskey was late yesterday.

When the girl was arrested in connection with the death of the infant later by a 18,000,000 budget hotel she gave her name as Joan Patterson, 21, but in the course of her trial her real name and age were disclosed and she was turned over to the children's court on a charge of juvenile delinquency. She ran away from her home at North Bellmore, L. I., a real ago.

Reported Truck Hit Him

Wednesday evening John Palen of RFD 1, reported to the police department that he had been struck by one of the Needles Express trucks on Broadway, near Field Court. He reported his arm and hip injured. The driver of the truck, George Bowers, was called on the telephone and asked if he did not know he had struck any one. Mr. Palen was advised to take the matter up with the truck driver.

Bruno's Spiritual Adviser Unfrocked By 7th Day Church

New York, April 2 (AP)—The Rev. W. H. Heckman, president of the Greater New York Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, said in response to a query today that the Rev. D. G. Werner, a spiritual adviser to Bruno Richard Hauptmann, had been unfrocked.

He declined to state the cause of the removal but emphasized that Mr. Werner's relationship with Hauptmann was not responsible.

"While the denomination approved the action of any of its ministers acting as spiritual adviser to convicted men, the conference does not approve declarations by the ministers as to their guilt or innocence," he explained.

But, he added, Mr. Werner's declarations of belief that Hauptmann was unjustly convicted played no part in the ouster.

Mr. Werner, a middle-aged German, held a pastorate in the Bronx (330 E. 150th street.).

Propose Gas Tax Increase.

Albany, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—A proposal to increase the state's permanent gasoline tax from two to three cents a gallon, with the entire revenue to be used for highway construction, came before the legislature today as members started home for a recess that may continue until April 20. In addition to the existing two-cent-a-gallon permanent levy, the state also has an emergency two-cent tax. Republicans have proposed to eliminate one cent of the latter by a $16,000,000 budget slash. Senator Ogden J. Ross, Troy Democrat, proposed the increase in the permanent impost in behalf of the state highway commission headed by Senator George R. Fearon, Syracuse Republican. Ross is vice chairman of the commission.

Hoffman and Parker Before Grand Jury

ents, who headed the prosecution forces at the Flemington trial of Hauptmann, was closeted with aides at the statehouse prior to going before the investigating body.

The grand jury started to hear the governor soon after his arrival, having disposed of Dr. Carroll T. Jones, superintendent of the State Colony for Feebleminded at New Lisbon, as the first witness.

It was at the New Lisbon colony that Wendel was kept for four weeks by Ellis H. Parker, chief of Burlington county detectives, while he was obtaining the several statements from the man.

The governor declined to accept a subpoena to appear before the grand jury, saying that he would appear voluntarily.

The office of Prosecutor Erwin F. Marshall reported that Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafse" of the ransom negotiations, was on his way from the Bronx to appear before the grand jury. This was lacking confirmation from Dr. Condon.

As Parker waited in the witness room nearby, a guard was placed beside him so that he could not talk to other witnesses. Leo Rogers, assistant prosecutor, said he had ordered this done.

Wendel, himself, bizarre figure in an already bizarre chronicle, has offered to waive immunity and testify.

The jury foreman, Alynne M. Freeman, target of bitter criticism that the jury probe was politically inspired, struck back sharply at his critics before the session.

"As long as I remain foreman no vote will ever be taken in any case when there still remains testimony," he said, denying there had yet been a vote on an indictment.

Says Commentator Lied

Freeman charged a "news commentator" who professed to have information of grand jury deliberations Tuesday "lied."

Speaking of "political skullduggery charges" made against him, the foreman declared, "I shall never accept a penny nor an ounce of political patronage as remuneration for any statement I ever make about this unfortunate case."

Freeman, who planned to run for state assemblyman on the Republican ticket in the May primaries, announced he would not be a candidate for public office.

Dr. Charles H. Mitchell, Mercer county physician, who performed the autopsy on the body of the slain baby, arrived at the prosecutor's office a little after 11 o'clock.

The physician, who is also county Republican chairman, said he had been called to appear before the jury.

The governor emerged from the grand jury room at noon. He had been before the jury for an hour and fifteen minutes. He had no comment to offer on his appearance.

A police guard hustled him through the crowd jamming the corridor, got him into an elevator, and he was rushed to the street. Again his guard hurried him through the sidewalk crowd to a car.

About the same time Attorney General Wilets was leaving the state house, at the other end of town, for the court house. He said he had not been told to come at this time, but had decided to be available.

When Wilets reached the court house he went to the prosecutor's office. He had nothing to say.

Back in the state house, it was reported Eldridge W. Stein and Albert S. Osborne, state handwriting experts at Hauptmann's trial, were conferring with Captain Snook of the state police.

A prosecution source said Osborne and Stein had compared the ransom notes with specimens of Wendel's handwriting, and had told the Hauptmann prosecution there was no similarity.

Manchoukuo Blames Outer Mongolia, Warns of Serious Possibilities

Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press.
 HANKING, Manchoukuo, April 2.—The Outer Mongolian government makes immediate steps to terminate all kinds of provocative actions against Manchoukuo's frontiers, the relations of the two countries are threatened with the most serious contingency, the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchoukuo warned today.

The Manchoukuo foreign minister, Chang Yen-Ching, telegraphed this protest to Premier of Outer Mongolia (Urekh), capital of Soviet Russia, newly allied to Soviet Russia, under a mutual assistance pact.

The Manchoukuo note alleged that a battle fought Tuesday on the disputed frontier between Manchoukuo and Outer Mongolia was clearly a case of Mongol aggression. The Manchoukuo protest asserted that Mongolian "hostile activities in frontier districts had been going on with increasing vigor since March 29."

The note cited alleged Mongol air and land attacks March 29 and March 31 in the Lake Bor region. The protest concluded with a warning.

"The serious situation precipitated by repeated Outer Mongolian attacks on the border obliges Japanese and Manchoukuo authorities to proceed with protective measures to safeguard Manchoukuo's frontiers."

Clarification Asked.
 Tokyo, April 2 (AP).—The Japanese government pressed Urekh, Gen. Kikuchi Ureda, its ambassador and Japanese commander-in-chief in Manchoukuo, today for speedy clarification of the situation arising on the border of Soviet-protected Outer Mongolia.

The Japanese public still was ignorant of the reported clash Tuesday, except for the charge 12 Outer Mongolian air planes had bombed a Japanese-Manchoukuo frontier guard north of Tawian and within Manchoukuo territory.

Lieut. Gen. Jozo Nishio, former chief of staff of the Japanese army in Manchoukuo, now on his way to Tokyo to assume the vital post of chief of the general staff, declared in an interview:

"If the Japanese army in Manchoukuo were properly reinforced, the Soviets would come their defiant actions on Manchoukuo's borders."

"The Soviets' attitude has stiffened because their Far Eastern forces have reached formidable strength, and incidents like the March 31 clash probably will continue until all such problems are automatically solved by raising the Japanese-Manchoukuo forces to their proper numbers."

The Nationalist Daily Kokumin said Premier Hirota had decided to issue a "final warning" to Moscow. If Soviet Russia does not heed this warning, the newspaper said, the premier "thereafter will resort to a timely unilateral measure."

A spokesman for the premier, however, reiterated that Hirota was confident the Far Eastern border clashes would not lead to a Soviet-Japanese war.

High civilian officials expressed conviction that the Tokyo government was really desirous of peace and would be able to curb any warlike dispositions by the Japanese army in Manchoukuo.

Great Battle of War N. Ethiopia Looms as Forces Maneuver

By EDWARD J. NEIL.
 (Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
 ASMAR, Eritrea, April 1 (By wire).—To Rome, April 2.—Italy's northern army and the personal troops of Emperor Haile Selassie maneuvered carefully today toward what was considered the impending battle of the war in Ethiopia.

The little rainy season, which had begun locally in various parts of the northern front, finally set in with characteristic African viciousness, but military authorities feared the heavy downpour would retard the operations.

The Ethiopian Emperor withdrew his forces to the heights overlooking Asmara, 30 miles south of Asmara, to await the second of the decisive encounter—expected to be an attack by the army of Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

Haile Selassie himself launched a series of the climactic struggle on the northern front yesterday, throwing the army of the finest troops of his kingdom at the left Italian flank, north of Lake Ashangi.

The emperor's attempt to split the Italian army corps failed, the Italian headquarters said, but only an all-day battle, marked by a fierce attack and counter-attack.

The Italian command estimated that 2,000 Ethiopians were killed in fighting from dawn to dusk before the imperial bodyguard retreated. Unofficial reports said 14 Italian officers and 500 white soldiers of the first army corps and Eritrean Askari were killed.

Haile Selassie, after ordering his army to retreat into the rain forest, split the Italian forces, withdrawing his bodyguard to the main body of 10,000 Ethiopians, just south of Asmara.

Anti-aircraft guns went into action in a great concentration of the first army corps of Italian and the Eritrean column maintained their contact in the northern sector, Achille Starace, Italian general of the Fascist army, ordered a tranquil trip of his army to Gondar, near the Italian sphere of influence about 100 miles to the northwestern in the province of Tigray and Begemdar.

Haile Selassie, however, was reported to have ordered Gondar at the hands of Emperor Haile Selassie, who kept right

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

It didn't strike Benny the Rabbit as queer that a big bozo in a big fur coat should pass by a lot of others huddled under the elevated in Cooper Square and come straight up to him. It was time he was getting a break, Benny figured. Things hadn't been coming his way in a long time. Too many penhandlers working down town. The take was hardly anything—only enough for one deck of snow all day. The big bozo looked good for at least two bits. Maybe a buck. A dollar would be wealth. Instead of opening up, the big bozo told Benny to get into a taxi with him. Benny didn't hesitate. Maybe the big bozo wanted to show him off to some friends uptown. He was willing to be exhibited as a Bowery bum for Park avenue—that surely meant dough and maybe a lot of it.

The apartment in which Benny found himself took away his breath. There were all kinds of silk curtains, gold chairs—and gold doorknobs! He heard music, too, not the kind that came from Bowery radios but the kind that leaked out from the Metropolitan Opera house—class stuff. The big bozo was talking to him. He could have anything he wanted to eat—all he had to do was order it. So Benny said he'd like a thick steak, cooked rare, with the juice oozing out, a lot of scallions, mashed potatoes, gravy, any other knickknacks handy, coconut custard pie and coffee. That was a. k. with the big bozo but first Benny would have to take a bath. Benny hesitated. He knew there was some kind of a catch to it. But steak and onions were worth even a bath.

Surprised was Benny to find that bathing was actually pleasant—when done in a sunken marble tub instead of standing on a slippery floor under a shower that some times squirted only cold water. It wasn't ordinary water either because it had perfume in it. So he took his time about getting through. When he did come out, he got mad. His clothes had disappeared from the dressing room in which he had left them. He wasn't mad long. In place of his tags was a brand new suit that just fitted—and silk underwear!

Feeling as if he owned the whole world, Benny came out and sat down at the table with the big bozo. He was glad that there were only two places—he wouldn't have to do any act until after he had been fed. A butler came in with a silver platter on which was a huge steak with red juice oozing out of it. Other sugary brought in mashed potatoes, green peas, mushrooms and a dish heaped high with scallions. The big bozo heaped Benny's plate and Benny went to work.

Having scraped up the last crumbs of the coconut custard pie, Benny drained his coffee cup and lighted the gold-banded cigar the big bozo handed him. Even if he didn't get anything more out of it he had no kick coming. Never in his life had he ever even imagined there could be such a meal. But he had to have a showdown. The big bozo said he knew Benny hadn't been getting the breaks so he had thought it was up to him to even things a little.

He wanted Benny to get a new start in life. The new suit he was wearing was a part of it. In the hall was hanging a new heater which was his—an overcoat exactly like the one the big bozo wore. That wasn't all. To make a new start, took dough. Removing a roll from his pocket, the big bozo started peeling off fifties. He didn't stop until he piled up $1,000 which he handed to Benny.

Just as Benny's fingers closed around that $1,000, smart raps on the thin soles of his shoes caused him to leap to his feet. Before him stood a big bozo but he was wearing a blue instead of a fur overcoat. Benny, fearful of the works, took it on the lam.

"I hate to do it," said the copper to himself. "But if I didn't wake those junkies up, they'd freeze to death before morning."

Gland in Love Center

New York.—The grade A teacher spares the rod and does not keep Johnny in after school, Dr. Nellie M. Campbell, of Teachers College, Columbia university, reported in a survey of classroom behavior problems.

She said that she found that teachers who are highly successful in classroom control use fewer punishments and more rewards. Teachers rated A in control of pupils meet the behavior problem by reasoning and social approval, she said.

POLITICS at Random

THE explosion in the Townsend camp is rated by many old-line politicians as one of the prime political developments of 1936.

Of course opinions differ as to the ultimate consequences, but the feeling is general that a profound change, of one kind or another, is taking place with respect to the most-discussed of all of the "group movements" of the current era.

This feeling is based in part on Dr. Townsend's abandonment of his position as a political independent, in part on the disagreement between him and his chief lieutenant, and in part on the vigorous handling of the Townsanders at the congressional hearings.

Heretofore, those who have feared the Townsend movement have been concerned especially by its singleness of purpose, by the solidarity of its adherents, and by its absolute disregard for party lines and party labels.

These are qualities which make any wide-spread group movement formidable in politics. Consequently there is great curiosity as to the degree in which these qualities have been lost by the Townsanders.

Politicians Wonder

British Concerned Over Tana
 London, April 2 (AP).—British concern over the Italian advance almost to the shores of Lake Tana—the source of supply of the Nile—was evident in Whitehall today. No official source was willing to say whether the British had yet made any representations on the subject to Rome. An authoritative quarter, however, reaffirmed the fact that Premier Mussolini had voluntarily and on several occasions given categorical assurances that Italy had no intentions of violating British interests in the Lake Tana region.

There are probably fifty or sixty billion buttons on clothes in American wardrobes and on American people, men averaging around 450 buttons each, women less than that. A man's business clothes are held on by about 50 buttons. A woman may have as few as none at all.

Group Movements Quiet

INCIDENTALLY, the Townsend Bar-up adds to a rather extraordinary list of tribulations suffered by the group movements of 1936 politics.

A year ago, it was the universal belief that the campaign would see something of a free-for-all among powerful organizations which overlapped and disregarded party lines.

Now the leaders of the Liberty League seem to have abandoned any idea of a conservative coalition backing its own presidential ticket, and the share-out-wealth third-party notion has been almost forgotten.

Father Coughlin's Union for Social Justice has shown no recent indication of striking out for itself. The Talmadge revolt simmers, but administration leaders, even in Georgia, no longer speak of it with apprehension.

And the Townsend movement, which had more than one office-holder shaking in his boots, is occupied with its own domestic troubles.

The tendency of the campaign is more and more to fall into the old familiar lines. Broadly, it is becoming increasingly a contest between a strongly-entrenched Democratic organization and a revived and militant Republican organization.

Planning for the Industrial Minstrel

Wednesday afternoon, a meeting was held in the city court room of representatives from 18 organizations interested in the promotion of the Industrial Minstrel Show, which is to be staged at Rodeo-Kingston Theatre, Friday night, May 1.

Max L. Rehen, chairman of the ticket committee, presided, and explained the distribution plan where by tickets are to be offered to the public, for the purpose of raising $2,000 needed by the committee whose aid is to promote Kingston industrially.

After studying the seating at the theatre, Mr. Rehen and Alderman Paul Zucca, chairman of the talent committee, proposed to offer 1,000 seats at $2 apiece; four hundred at $1.50; two hundred and fifty at $1 and 200 at 50 cents.

The minstrel is the first of a series of events to be run for the purpose of raising $10,000 needed by the Industrial Committee.

Organizations invited to the meeting and their spokesmen were as follows:

Kivania, Roger Loughran, Rotary, Dr. Carter; Junior Chamber of Commerce, H. LaMothe, Knights of Columbus, Andrew Giddys, L.L.K., Joseph Ditch, Triangle Club, Warren Smith, Parent Teacher, Mrs. Joe Crake, Women's Club, Mrs. Fred Luther, High School Teachers' Association, B. Cities Service Snows Under Renaissance Quintet by 55-28

Kingston snowed under the Original Renaissance Wednesday at the Municipal Auditorium, 55-28, before approximately 1,500 fans, who cheered the Cities Service team on to its overwhelming victory over the colored champs of the world who looked everything but the part in the second and third periods.

Leading by one point at the end of the first frame, 3-8, the negroes fell behind in the second stanza, scoring only seven markers, as the Renaissance put on a shooting exhibition that brought them 20 points to add to the eight they made in the first period.

Phil Rabinowitz, relieving Frank Shimek who had pumped two fields in during the opening stanza, made his debut in a Kingston uniform in the second frame and contributed a deuce and foul, besides starring in the passing attack. Phil picked 'em up and threw the calfskin around with grace and ease. He made five points in the last period.

Kintzing Stars

Lloyd "Lefty" Kintzing was the individual star of the contest on the offensive. He made 14 points on six fields and two free shots. Next was Charlie Husta with 11 and Tiny Hearn with 10. Hearn's total was the result of five deuces, two in the second period and three in the last. He pushed in three under the basket, and two he gleamed on long shots.

Kingston's pass-work sparkled last night, and the defense was good, romping the customers to remark, "Too bad the boys couldn't have played that way in the American League." Manager Frank Morgenweck would have been better pleased, too, if his tossers had worked in the league like they did last night. He is confident of coping next week's game with Kate Smith's Celtics, one of the best road clubs in the country with a lineup of colorful cage stars.

A Real Harrow

The Morgenweckers continued their drive for points in the third period last night, coming out of this frame with 27. The Renaissance dropped the leather through the hoop to build up the total. They cheered vociferously, especially when Tiny Hearn made his trio of shots in spectacular fashion. A flat fight almost occurred in the closing minutes of the final period when Eyre Satch, shoved Frank Shimek, pushing him headlong into the spectators. Mickey Husta, time keeper, saved "Shimek" from injuring himself. The Kingston tosser, who went into the game a second time to give Lefty Kintzing a rest, dashed after Satch, but was stopped by his teammates. Several spectators also rushed onto the court in threatening manner, but were cooled off by the Kingston players and Patrolman Ray Van Buren.

Visitations, Hebrews Tied; Playoff Resumes Saturday

The first two games of the final playoff series between Philadelphia Hebrews and Brooklyn Visitations for the American Basketball League Championship have resulted in a split. The first contest at Philadelphia last Saturday night resulted in a victory for the Hebrews by a scant margin of two points, 30-28. Brooklyn Visitations reversed this decision the following night on its home court by winning 27-24.

In the contest at Philadelphia, Brooklyn had an apparently safe lead in the third period of six points only to have the Hebrews come back in a flash of glory in the closing minutes.

A similar condition existed at Brooklyn on Sunday when Philadelphia led at one time by seven points but some remarkable field goals by Johnson, Reardon and McDermott overcame this advantage to give the Visitations an even break in the first two games of the series.

Neither club has been able to display any marked superiority in any way over the other, and the total scores evidence this equally. Philadelphia has 14 field goals to its credit, as against 14 for Brooklyn, but in total points Brooklyn has a slight lead 55-54.

The third game of this playoff series will be played at Philadelphia on Saturday, April 4, and the fourth game at Brooklyn on Sunday, April 5.

William Lawson Little, Jr., Joins the Professional Ranks

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Augusta, Ga., April 2 (AP)—While a deluge washed out the first round of the Augusta National tournament, William Lawson Little, Jr., king of the world's amateurs for the past two years, emerged today as the latest recruit to the ranks of professional golf.

In making the big jump that took two famous championship predecessors, Robert T. Jones, Jr., and George Von Elm, from the ranks of the Simon-pures six years ago, Little ended at the age of only 25 an amateur career that dazzled two continents in 1934 and 1935.

With a world record streak of 31 consecutive victories in title match play, the San Francisco "sleeper" captured the American and British crowns twice in succession. His decision not only means the relinquishment of both championships, at the peak of his career, but removes his chance to captain this year's American Walker Cup team.

With his bride, the former Dorothy Hurd of Chicago, nodding her smiling agreement, Little declared today he was "happy in making the decision that offers the chance to get down to work."

The details have yet to be worked out but he will shortly sign contracts, he said, for a long term in promotion venture, sponsored by a national sporting goods (Spalding's) concern.

Little will be associated with Bob Jones in work which the Georgian described as "educational." Present plans call for Little to lead a touring party which will give exhibitions, show motion pictures and otherwise seek to create wider interest in golf playing. Jones will act only in an advisory capacity. The aim is to reach public courses, schools and colleges with the promotional program.

An Ohio psychologist, Dr. Harvey C. Lehman, after much research, has come to the conclusion that the age of 41 years is the high spot in production for writers and that poets are at their best around 35. Other specialists are in proportion, with the usual exceptions, of course.

Experts Pick St. Louis Cardinals to Win the National League Title

By HERBERT W. BAXTER
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, April 2 (AP)—A two-club race for the National League pennant, with St. Louis Cardinals dethroning the Chicago Cubs by a narrow margin, was forecast today by the nation's baseball experts casting ballots in The Associated Press' tenth annual poll.

In as close a battle of ballots as the poll ever has seen, 43 of the 98 sports editors and baseball writers who participated, cast their first-place ballots for the "Gas-house Gang" led by the inimitable Deans and bolstered by the off-season acquisition of LeRoy (Bud) Parmelee, fast ball right-hander.

The Cubs, who won the 1935 flag with a spectacular 21-game winning streak in the closing month of the campaign, were placed second despite the fact they will get away from the barrier two weeks hence with virtually the same array that performed so sensationally a year ago.

The Cubs received 39 first-place ballots but Charlie Grimm's champions can take heart from the fact that the 1935 poll established the Cardinals as favorites and ranked the Cubs no better than third.

As far as the experts are concerned, only two other clubs—the New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates can be considered to have even a remote chance of flouting in the championship this summer. The Giants were given 13 votes for the first-place and Pittsburgh, prospective "dark-horse" of the campaign, received three.

In the final ranking, the Giants were placed third and Pittsburgh fourth, with Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Boston trailing in order.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

(By The Associated Press)

Birmingham, Ala.—Ben Chapman, last of the Yankee holdouts, had another chance today to put his name on the dotted line before Joe McCarthy leads the major leaguers out of Alabama. Ben failed to get anywhere in a talk with McCarthy yesterday.

Sebring, Fla.—Although the deadline for reducing clubs to 25 players is still six weeks away Casey Stengel has cut his Brooklyn Dodgers within two of that number. He'll probably drop a pitcher and an infielder but he'll also have to decide whether to keep Johnny Cooney and Oscar Eckhardt or turn them back to the minors. Cooney will know his answer by April 15, the deadline set by Indianapolis, while Eckhardt's trial runs to June 30.

Sarasota, Fla.—Lon Warneke, ace of the Cubs' mound staff, was expected to go the route against the Boston Red Sox today.

Tyler, Tex.—Jimmy Dykes sent his White Sox against the Pirates again today with Monte Stratton, who showed promise at the end of the 1935 season, and Lee Tietje slated to share the mound duties. Cy Blanton and Guy Bush were listed as the Pirates' probable pitchers.

Greenwood, Miss.—Oral Hildebrand and Johnny Allen were named to take the mound for Cleveland against the Giants here today in the ninth game of their exhibition series. Allen has recovered from an attack of influenza.

Tyler, Tex.—Brother Lloyd, the little poison of the Wauer family, began his limbering up exercises after recovering from a long siege of pneumonia. Although a little underweight, Lloyd declared he was feeling fine.

First Wallkill Valley Championship Game Is To Be Played Tonight

The Layman Berkwitz basketball team captured the second round and the Newburgh city championship Tuesday night when they defeated Cy's Five by the one-sided score of 47 to 23. Embler of the LBS team, alone, made more points than his opponents, being credited with 25.

The Layman Berkwitz victory leaves them free to take up another little matter—the playing of a best two out of three series with the Middletown All Stars for the championship of the Wallkill Valley League.

The Layman Berkwitz went into a tie with Middletown for second round league honors when they took their last game with the Kingston Kendalls by a forfeit.

The Middletown outfit is a top-heavy favorite to win the league title, having lost but one of the 14 regularly scheduled games.

The first game in the play-off between the Newburgh and Middletown teams will be staged at the Wallkill prison tonight, starting at 8 o'clock. There will be a small admission fee charged and the public is invited to attend the game.

The team winning the series will be awarded a silver trophy, standing 24 1/2 inches high and inscribed, "Champions, Wallkill Valley League, 1935-36." The trophy will be awarded at a banquet to be held at the Wallkill Prison at a later date.

CENTRAL HUDSON TEAM ENTERS SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Employees of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation will enter a team in the Industrial Division of the A.A.A. Softball League.

The decision to enter the League was made at a meeting held at the company offices Wednesday night. Ben A. Short was elected manager of the team. Walter A. Black, captain and Paul C. Zucca, secretary.

Goshen Five Orange-Sullivan Champions

The Goshen Alumni Five are champions of the Orange-Sullivan League, one of the most popular of the many semi-pro basketball circuits in this section. The Goshen team won the title Tuesday night by defeating the Maybrook Tydols by two points in a hard-fought contest, the final score being 33 to 31.

Maybrook took the first quarter 10-5; at the half the score was tied at 14-14. Goshen pulled up to take a 25-20 advantage at the three-quarter mark, finally winning by two points.

Five hundred fans witnessed the game, which was played on the Washingtonville central school court, a neutral court.

HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL PLAYERS COMPETE FOR TITLE

Glens Falls, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—Basketball superseded other interests in this city today as players from eight schools in five states and the District of Columbia warmed up for the Eastern States Tournament opening tonight.

Two luncheon clubs invited the visitors to be their guests and various fraternal organizations announced open house.

Officials to handle the games in the three-day competition ending Saturday were announced last night. They are Charles Kaufmann and John P. Timmons of Glens Falls; John Cassidy of Saratoga Springs and Warren Williams of Hudson Falls.

Eastern High School of Washington, D. C., is defending champion. Another indication of the advancement of true art: Discarding the photograph and its records and then turning on the radio to listen to a recorded musical program—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

Captain Carlisle Husta with a total of 232 points for the entire American League season is tied for third place with Mac Kinsbrunner of the New York Jewels in the scoring race. However, Husta's average points per game tops Mac's. He has 7.7 and the New Yorker 7.5.

Bobby McDermott of the Visitations heads the list of point scorers with 382 for 40 games, and Phil Rabinowitz, Passaic star sought by Frank Morgenweck for next year's Kingston team, is second with 231 for 27 games. His average is 8.6. McDermott's 9.6.

All of Kingston's regulars are on President John J. O'Brien's official American League list as having scored more than 100 points, except Tiny Hearn.

The official list of the 10 leading scorers, and the averages of the whole Kingston team, follows:

Union Leaders To Support Roosevelt

Washington, April 2 (AP)—Powerful union leaders within the American Federation of Labor swung into action today to support President Roosevelt and fight his foes in the election campaign.

The formation of "labor's non-partisan league" and the start of its drive came in the thick of Republican activity including the important New York primary, the Maine convention, and the filing of petitions for both Senator Borah of Idaho and Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas in the New Jersey presidential preference primary.

Creation of the new league was announced by George L. Berry, president of the Printing Pressmen. His associates are John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Berry, head of the President's council for industrial progress, referred apparently to the American Liberty League's attacks on the New Deal when he declared his group's move was prompted by the actions of "other leagues which had as their purpose the defeat of the President and his policies."

Berry agreed that his league would be a medium for A. F. of L. support for Mr. Roosevelt. Only once has the federation endorsed a presidential candidate—in the case of Robert M. La Follette in 1924.

Berry said special attention will be given to the campaigns in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois, although he said he did not regard the states as doubtful.

Senator Borah's backers, after a vigorous campaign, awaited results today of efforts to get support from among the 30 national convention delegates to be picked in New York.

Filing of Borah and Landon petitions in Jersey puts both Republicans definitely in one state race for the first time. The Landon movement—still without the Kansas active endorsement—has considerable support in New Jersey. The county chairman and all four leaders chosen to run as delegates-at-large have endorsed him.

The latter are Governor Harold G. Hoffman, Edward D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Insurance Company; former Ambassador Walter E. Edge, and Mrs. Edna B. Conklin, national committeewoman.

In the Maine G. O. P. convention today it was expected that an unstructured delegation, partial to the nomination of Colonel Frank Knox of Chicago, would be selected.

IMPRISONED GOAT EATS POLICE FODDER SUPPLY.

Augusta, Ga. (AP)—Artemus Thomas, a negro, is crippled and gets about town in a wood cart pulled by a goat.

More than once, when Artemus has been arrested for drunkenness, his goat has had to be taken into custody for participating in the celebration.

City police with Artemus wasn't a cripple, because his goat eats deep into the fodder supply at the stockade stables.

OFFICER IDENTIFIES MAN GLIMPSED 6 YEARS AGO.

Danville, Va. (AP)—Six years ago Policeman W. T. Kessler caught a glimpse of a fleeing store pilferer.

Recently he was called to arrest a man charged with stealing an overcoat.

He recognized him as the fugitive he saw six years earlier and identity was admitted by the man.

This country today is suffering mainly from a plague of prophets.

Sawkill Community Club

The Sawkill Community Club held its March meeting on March 25. An outstanding feature was the plan that the club hereafter furnish the text books for the school, thus relieving the parents of this obligation. Through the courtesy of Miss Ruby Cure the April meeting is scheduled to have a guest speaker, the subject being "Japan." Refreshments brought the meeting to a close.

Few Vacancies in Preston's Battery

Notice has been received by Capt. Carl S. Preston, commanding officer of Headquarters Battery and Company, 156th Field Artillery, New York National Guard, stationed at the State Armory on N. Manor avenue, that the strength of the unit is to be increased from 31 to 39 men. This increase will enable a few young men in this city to join the battery if certain qualifications are met, the captain announced. "We have a waiting list, but there will be several vacancies because certain applicants have not met the qualifications," he explained. Headquarters Battery is not a first unit, having instead to do the establishing of communication between the various batteries of first battalion and also with the vision. Young men especially interested in telephone and radio wanted.
